5 Dead, 17 Hurt in Gun-Turret Explosion

CRUISER TRENTON IS LATEST VICTIM OF JINK OF NAVY

Four Men Hurl'd Overboard by Blast and One Blackened Body Lost in Sea.

FOUR OF INJURED CRITICALLY BURNED

Disaster Is Third in Year. Others Were Destroyer Smash on Honda and Mississippi Blast.

Norfolk, Va., October 21.—George R. Cholister, newsman's mate first class, Camden, N. J., died at the Naval Hospital Portsmouth, this morning at 2:20 o'clock. Bennett Williams, seaman second class, is not expected to live through the night.

Norfolk, Va., October 20.—Four men—one of them an ensign—were killed and 15 others injured in an explosion late today aboard the new scout cruiser Trenton while at target practice off the Virginia capes. So great was the force of the explosion that an access door at the rear of the turret was opened and four men blown overboard. One, terribly burned, never came to the surface.

The dead, whose names were not made public by naval officials here for nearly eight hours after the accident because of the care in checking the ship's list, and the delay in transmission from the Trenton, anchored in Hampton Roads, were: Ensign Henry Clay Drexler, Sussex Beach, Del.

Four Catholics Burned. Among the injured four were listed as critically burned and seven as seriously, but not critically. Eight of the injured were transferred from the cruiser to a navy tug and sent to the naval hospital at Portsmouth, the others being treated aboard ship.

Some of the victims were so terribly burned and blackened that identification was well nigh impossible. Seaman Walker, one of the men killed, was blown overboard and was drowned.

A report from the Trenton tonight said that the cause of the explosion had not been determined, but that usual precautions had been taken, and that it was not believed to have been due to electrical trouble.

The forward gun mount was trained to the beam, with guns at an extreme elevation, said the message. "No shot had been fired. Powder and shell were being hoisted into the turret, and all safety precautions had been observed."

"Unusual and exacting care had been taken at every step and at present it is believed the accident cannot be attributed to electrical trouble. Immediately after the explosion the access door in the rear of the turret was opened and four men fell overboard because of the overhang. Three were rescued. One apparently was badly burned and drowned, but body was not recovered. The scout cruiser Raleigh was searching for the body tonight."

DEATH NOT TO END FRANKS' REVENGE ON SLAYERS OF SON

Chicago, October 20.—Plans for a trust that may be used after his death to oppose any efforts to free Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, were announced today by Jacob Franks, father of the boy they killed.

"The murderers must never get freedom," he declared, "A lenient government, a shrewd lawyer, an indifferent people—and their liberation would be the matter of only a short time, unless provision were made to combat any effort to get them out of Joliet."

"I don't know how long I shall live. During my life I will fight any move to defeat justice. After my death the trust fund will be available."

COUNCIL CHECKS MOVE TO INCREASE COMMITTEE SIZES

Majority Votes To Raise Membership From 5 to 12, But Two-Thirds Is Lacking.

The first step to revolutionize the form of Atlanta's city government by naming 12 members on every important committee, and giving to each ward direct representation on each committee, was checked by council Monday when, after a long and bitter discussion, action on an ordinance to that effect, introduced jointly by 14 members of general council, was deferred until the next regular meeting.

Although a majority of members present voted favorably on the measure, a two-thirds majority could not be obtained on a motion to place it on second reading, and action cannot be taken until the next meeting, when a majority will secure its passage.

Amds 1910 Code. The ordinance, which originally was sponsored by Councilman R. F. Pennington, of the first ward, asked that the part of section 859 of the city code of 1910, which provides for a "committee on the police department," be amended to read "committee on the police department, composed of five members," be stricken therefrom, and the phrase, "committee on the police department, consisting of 12 members, one from each ward," be substituted.

It also provides that the number of members of committees on the fire department, sanitary department, park department, hospitals and charities, and water works be increased to twelve.

Alderman W. B. Hartsfield launched a heated attack against passage of the ordinance, charging that it was aimed against a certain department of the city government, and that "the other committees were thrown in to cover up the assault on one certain department." He contended that direct representation of each ward is not necessary on every committee, because "committees are not established for the purpose of representation, but instead are appointed to make detailed study of every situation, and to dispatch business."

Hard to Get Quorum. He stated that it is very difficult to gather a quorum of committees consisting of one or five members, and that committees composed of twelve

McAdoo and Cox Not Donors To Davis War Pot

Only Two Gifts As High As $25,000 Shown in List.

New York, October 20.—Contributions to the democratic campaign fund in excess of $100 total $516,826, according to a list of contributors prepared by Jesse B. Jones, the party's director of finance, for The New York Times. The list will be filed with the senate investigating committee. No gift exceeds $25,000 and Mr. Jones and Bernard M. Baruch, of New York city, were the only ones to give that amount.

John W. Davis, the democratic candidate for president, has contributed to the fund to the extent of $5,000, the list shows. William G. McAdoo, unsuccessful aspirant for the democratic nomination for the presidency, is not listed as a contributor, nor is James M. Cox, the party's standard-bearer in 1920.

The democratic campaign fund in 1916 was $538,996 on October 18, while the 1920 total for the same date was $399,389.

Tri-Party Coalition Failed To Command Adequate Majorities Without Dealing With Others.

BY ERIC KEYSER.

Berlin, October 20.—Chancellor Marx' efforts to obtain outside support for his coalition government have failed and the reichstag has been dissolved in preparation for a general election. The polling is being forecast for November 20.

In a joint statement following the dissolution order, Marx and President Ebert said that the present composition of the reichstag prevented the formation of a stable effective cabinet and that in order to carry out the indorsed policies of the government including the Dawes plan, an appeal to the people for the election of an adequate majority was essential.

In Test of Dawes Plan. President Ebert consented to the dissolution when the cabinet formally advised him of the state of affairs. PLAN HIGH SCHOOL TO COST $200,000

County Offers City $45,000 for Beall Park as Part of Site for the Building.

Preliminary plans for a new $200,000 high school for Fulton county came to light Monday afternoon, when the county board of education offered to purchase Beall park from the city for $45,000. The park is bounded by Washington street, Woodward avenue and Brown place.

It is understood that if the city will sell the property at the figure offered, county officials plan to purchase the entire block, which runs through to Pulliam street.

As yet, plans for the building are indefinite, and the project depends almost entirely on the city's attitude in regard to the sale of Beall park. The entire block in which the park is located includes between one and one-half and two acres, and it is planned to locate the school building in the center of the site with a fine playground on all sides.

The present county high school building is located in a building rented for the purpose at Trinity avenue and Whitehall street.

Although the communication presented to city council did not state that the site is to be used for a school, county officials stated Monday night that if the property can be purchased, plans for a school building will be drawn immediately. The actual amount to be spent has not yet been decided, but it is estimated at approximately $200,000.

Beall park was purchased by the city for $55,000 about five years ago, at which time it was intended to use the land as a site for a commercial high school. However, plans for the school were dropped and the property has been used as a park.

Council failed to act on the offer Monday, referring the matter to the parks committee for consideration.

Dapper Dan's Own Sweetie Robbed by Other Dappers

New York, October 20.—With a rushing entrance, quick clean-up and a snappy get-away, three gunmen wearing handkerchief masks made another Broadway apartment raid for jewelry Monday and "rang the bell" with a sensation that vibrated like jangling fire alarms.

For the woman, whose apartment they picked out to rob was found to be Mrs. Helen Heyworth, divorced wife of Otto Y. Heyworth, a rich Chicagoan, and the same picturesque beauty who pleaded with the Paris police last spring to be allowed to marry "Dapper Don" Collins in jail.

Mrs. Heyworth disappeared soon after the robbery and her guests of the evening in her luxurious apartment on Central Park South showed a similar eagerness to avoid publicity. One of them, described as Alfred Hannan, was said to have lost a $500 watch. Mrs. Heyworth, missed a pin valued at $400. The other guests were not robbed, apparently because the gunmen were surprised to find so many present in the apartment and had not planned to search so many.

The police at once resumed their search along the old, well worn trails which they have traversed many times, looking for clues to the assassins Dottie King and Louise Lawson, young ladies of the cabaret, who were strangled for their

LA FOLLETTE IDEA IS FOR BIG VOTE IN EVERY STATE

He Is Not So Much Interested in Winning Election as in Founding New Political Party.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, October 20.—The surprise at least it is a surprise to most of this campaign is the strength of La Follette—not so much his strength in the form of states he will carry or electors he will have, as in the size of his popular vote. Early in the campaign the most experienced observers estimated that La Follette's share of the total popular vote would be about 10 per cent. Today these same observers would concede that La Follette is likely to have closer to 20 per cent.

There are 48 states. If we subtract from the 12 which there is traditionally practically only one party, the democratic, we have 36 states. Of these 36 it is a fair question today whether La Follette will not come near to running at least second in half of them. I say "at least second" because the computation includes the states in which he will run first. The states in which La Follette is likely to run either first or second west of the Mississippi are Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Iowa, California, Nevada.

Develops Strength in East. In addition, La Follette probably has as good a chance as the democrats to run second; or as to some of these states, even first, in Nebraska, Arizona, Colorado and Wyoming. East of the Mississippi La Follette has almost no chance.

Tech Will Hear Campaign Issues Presented Today

Straw Vote Will Be Cast Wednesday Upon Presidential Candidates.

It's a far cry from football to politics, but Georgia Tech is prepared to make the transition today. Grant field, which vibrated to the roar of pickin' enthusiasts Saturday, today will resound with the finished periods of political orators, who will address the student body in the interest of the presidential campaigns of the three leading candidates.

The students will be massed on the athletic field this morning at 10 o'clock. Charles D. McKimney will present the issues from a democratic standpoint; Clint W. Hager will speak for the republican administration, and J. Sibley will appear on behalf of the La Follette progressives.

Wednesday, the students will cast a straw vote in ballot boxes conveniently located about the campus, and the Tech vote will later be combined with a national straw poll being taken under auspices of the national college Y. M. C. A. organization. Secretary Chaille, of the Tech "Y," is in charge of the local situation.

Shaver and Gerard To Be Examined Today. "Slush" Fund Inquiry To Begin Wednesday.

Washington, October 20.—With a rather formidable array of witnesses already summoned and still others to be called, members of the special senate committee expressed the opinion today that the investigation of campaign expenditures by the three major political parties, begun last week at Chicago, will be continued right up to election day, November 4.

The inquiry will be resumed here tomorrow with the examination of officials of the democratic national committee as to contributions to, and expenditures by that organization. Clem L. Shaver, chairman, and James W. Gerard, treasurer, will be the witnesses and they will be asked to consent to an arrangement agreed to by the officers of the republican and independent organizations to submit sworn reports as to their financial affairs as of October 20, October 25 and November 1.

Grundy Is Delayed. The committee had intended to go straight through with the inquiry into the charges of Senator Robert M. La Follette that a huge "slush" fund is being raised by the republican national committee, the bankers and the business interests generally, for use in behalf of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket. Upon his arrival here from Chicago today, however, Chairman Borah was advised by Joseph E. Grundy that he and other witnesses from Philadelphia could not come here before Wednesday.

LABOR WINS RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY

Strikers Are "Employees" Within Meaning of Clayton Act, Is Supreme Court Decision.

Washington, October 20.—Federal courts cannot refuse jury trials in contempt cases arising out of labor disputes, the supreme court held today in two cases, one coming from Wisconsin, brought by Sam Michaelson and others, and the other from Kentucky, brought by S. C. Sanderfer.

The important feature of the opinion is the rule laid down to be followed when persons are charged with having violated injunctions issued by the courts in connection with pending or prospective labor strikes.

The opinion, delivered by Justice Sutherland, held that the section of the Clayton act requiring a jury trial in certain specified kinds of contempt is constitutional, that railroad workers on strike are "employees" within the meaning of that law; that the contempt charged constituted a criminal offense, and that a jury trial was mandatory when demanded.

Were Denied Jury Trial. During the shopmen's strike in 1922, Michaelson and other striking employees of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha Railway company, were charged with conspiring to interfere with interstate commerce by picketing and the use of force and violence.

After a hearing the federal district court for western Wisconsin issued an injunction, restraining Michaelson and his associates from certain acts. Subsequently contempt proceedings were instituted against them, charging violation of the injunction. Denied a trial by jury, they were held by the court, after a hearing, to be in contempt, and sentenced. The

Text of Wire From Tumulty

The full text of Joseph P. Tumulty's telegram to The Constitution in reply to Governor Clifford Walker is as follows:

"Through the columns of your valuable paper my attention has been called to a speech delivered by Governor Walker, of your state, on September 23 at Kansas City before a convention of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in which, with reference to the association of Woodrow Wilson and myself, he made the following surprising statement:

"It is a different thing, an infinitely different thing when a Catholic secretary of a sympathetic president so manipulates the chicanery of politics that he will place in the center of every national war camp a Catholic church and drive outside of the border of that camp, on the back street, in the backyard, on the alleyways, every Presbyterian, every Methodist, every Baptist, and every other Protestant church."

"This statement, in substance, charges that in my official relations with Woodrow Wilson religious prejudice and bias controlled me. When the first report of this speech reached me, at once, in fairness to Governor Walker, I frankly discredited it, believing that out of the southland, whose chivalry and generosity I greatly admire, no such base, unchristian and un-Christian utterance would come.

"In patience and with forbearance, I awaited a disclaimer from the source which uttered it. Reluctantly, under pressure and ashamed, perhaps, of the diabolical character of the attack, an admission of its authenticity finally came from Governor Walker. The honey words, 'sickled over with a pale cast' of tolerance, in which he saw fit to appear his slanderous utterance, only exaggerate the mean, underhand character of all that he said.

Defend's Wilson's Name.

"Woodrow Wilson is dead. He cannot speak in his own behalf. My love for him and my respect for his memory bid me as a Roman Catholic, who for eleven years was intimately associated with him in the various crises of his career, modestly to defend him, especially when assassins of character from his own beloved southland seek by innuendo to tarnish his noble record of his everlasting achievements.

"The statement of Governor Walker regarding my alleged war activities in behalf of the Catholic church is an unqualified falsehood. No member of the church, neither a private in its ranks, nor a member of its priesthood, nor a hierarchy, has ever by slightest suggestion, sought to control me in this or any other matter.

Only One Course Open. In vain I read the speech of Governor Walker to find in it a single reasonable or qualified statement as to the charge so outrageously made. If this insinuation, reeking with intolerance and hatred, had come from the lips of a man of any significance, member of this un-American hooded band, which Governor Walker has seen fit clandestinely to associate with, he would have been unheeded and unwhipped of scorn, believing that silence and contempt are the antidotes for ugly things like this. But when a statement of this character is solemnly made by the chief executive of a great state, there is but one course.

Calls for Proof.

"Analyzing the statement, made by Governor Walker, he charged, first, that by manipulating what he is pleased to call the chicanery of politics, I, as secretary of the president, placed in the center of every national war camp a Catholic church, and, second, that I drove outside of the border of these camps into the back streets and into the alleyways every Presbyterian, every Methodist, every Baptist and every other Protestant church, if there be any evidence in the possession of Governor Walker to substantiate the charge, he may solemnly call upon him to produce it in any forum of his own choosing and before any tribunal made up of the Protestant, business men, whom he may see fit to designate. At the trial of this matter, I shall ask for the production of no witnesses in my own behalf, save the secretary of war, the officers of the army and navy who handled this character of war activity.

Will Meet Walker Here. "Further, I wish to say to Governor Walker that I am willing to meet him face to face in any part of Georgia and say to him in the presence of his own people that the charges that the Catholic church, the slightest degree, in any way during my time in the white house, sought to influence my conduct in this or any other matter, is deliberately false.

Declines to Talk. Governor Walker refused Monday night to make any answer to the Tumulty challenge, stating that he preferred to "sleep on it," and if he had any statement to make, would make it after due consideration today.

WILSON SECRETARY ARRAIGNS EFFORT TO ASPERSE CHIEF

Governor Challenged To Prove Before Protestant Body Charges Made at Kansas City.

SAYS WALKER PLANTING SEEDS OF DISCORD

Offers To Meet Walker Face to Face in Georgia and Tell Him Charges Are False.

Describing Governor Clifford Walker's references to the Catholic church and the late President Woodrow Wilson in his Kansas City Ku Klux Klan speech as "deliberate falsehood," Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to Mr. Wilson, Monday night addressed a telegram to The Constitution, in which he scathingly arraigned the Georgia governor.

Mr. Tumulty, who was in New York, charged that Governor Walker's speech, which was recently published in full in The Constitution, and which the governor has admitted he delivered before the national klonoconvocation of the Ku Klux Klan last month, was "a scurrilous attempt to asperse the memory of his late chief."

"If this insinuation," Mr. Tumulty's wire said, "seeking with intolerance and hatred, had come from the irresponsible lips of an insignificant member of this un-American hooded band, which Governor Walker has seen fit clandestinely to associate with, I would have allowed it to pass unheeded and unwhipped of scorn, believing that silence and contempt are the antidotes for ugly things like this. But when a statement of this character is solemnly made by the chief executive of a great state, there is but one course."

Demands Proof of Charges. Mr. Tumulty then denounced the utterances of Governor Walker before the supreme governing body of the Klan as "deliberate falsehood" and challenged him to prove his charges before any tribunal of Protestant ministers the governor might choose.

"Further," said Mr. Tumulty, "I wish to say to Governor Walker that I am willing to meet him face to face in any part of Georgia and say to him in the presence of his own people that the charges that the Catholic church, the slightest degree, in any way during my time in the white house, sought to influence my conduct in this or any other matter, is deliberately false."

Mr. Tumulty's telegram was in reply to the following reference to Tumulty, President Wilson and the Catholic church, which is taken from Governor Walker's klonoconvocation address at Kansas City:

"It is an infinitely different thing when a Catholic secretary of a sympathetic president so manipulates the chicanery of politics that he will place in the center of every national war camp a Catholic church, and drive outside of the border of that camp on the back streets, in the backyard, on the alleyways, every Presbyterian, every Methodist, and every other Protestant church."

Declines to Talk. Governor Walker refused Monday night to make any answer to the Tumulty challenge, stating that he preferred to "sleep on it," and if he had any statement to make, would make it after due consideration today.

governor did not deny that the text of the speech, as published last week in The Constitution, was correct, but said that he was tired and worn out after a busy day and did not care to make a statement Monday night.

The reference to the late President Wilson was heatedly resented by Mr. Tumulty, and in challenging Governor

Walker to prove his charges, the former executive secretary stated that he would produce former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker and certain army officers in his own behalf.

Will Defend Wilson. "Woodrow Wilson is dead," Mr. Tumulty said, "but my love for him and my respect for his memory bid me to defend him, especially against assassins of character from his own beloved southland who seek to tarnish the noble record of his everlasting achievements.

Governor Walker, in his Macedonian cry to his brother members of the Ku Klux Klan, speaks of "God, Christian duty and love." I beg to say to him that these beautiful words can never find a permanent resting place in the mouth of a man, who, by his attitude and utterances, is seeking to plant the seeds of hatred and discord in the hearts of men."

Text of Walker Address. That part of Governor Walker's address, delivered before the klonoconvocation of the Ku Klux Klan, dealing with the matter under fire by Mr. Tumulty, is as follows:

"So I suggest that we look to that stream of poison that is being injected into our national life through the admission of that lower type of foreigners that have been admitted into our land in the years that have gone by."

"This is no narrow or restricted suggestion that I am making to you. In the first place, I want to say that this does not mean as our enemies would have it, that we are making a fight upon the Catholic church, or the Catholic creed or the Catholic religion. As a good Baptist and as I trust, a good American, I would shed every drop of blood in my body in fighting any man who would place a feather's weight in the way of a Catholic boy or girl who on the Sabbath morning walked out of a Catholic home to go to a Catholic church to worship in the Catholic Sunday school, following the Catholic creed which he or she learned from a Catholic mother. (Applause.)

Attacks Wilson. "But it is a different thing, an infinitely different thing, when a Catholic secretary of a sympathetic president so manipulates the chicanery of politics, that he will place in the center of every national war campaign a Catholic church, and drive outside of the border of that camp, on the back streets, in the back yard, on the alleyways, every Presbyterian, every Methodist, and every Baptist, and every other Protestant church. (Applause.)

"It is a far different thing when a gang of Catholic priests take charge of the national convention of a great political party, some of us believing the hope of the future America and all of us believing one of the two parties to be the hope of America in the future, who threw them off, would give orders to that party and to that nation that it must nominate a Catholic president, that you shall not nominate a Protestant for the president of the United States. (Applause.)

"It is a far different thing, fellow klansmen, for the Catholic church, organized within its own limits, its own borders, a society-bound, secret, that votes like one man at the behest of a foreign leader, and then say that they will drive out of America any number of Protestants who see fit to establish for themselves a secret and oath-bound organization that may if they will vote alike. (Violent applause.)

Immigration Views. "These are different things. We have no fight to make upon the Catholic church, no fight upon the Catholic religion. We are here to protect as the fundamental of our American government, and the basis of our American constitution, the right of religious freedom in America. (Applause.)

In any event it would not affect the status of the Dawes plan because it already is in operation by sanction of the reichstag. The only thing the nationalists could hope to do would be to obtain some sort of endorsement of their attitude. Even this is unlikely, as the pan-German junkies are expected to lose a few seats.

Chancellor Marx has been struggling with the "crisis" for weeks. As the head of a coalition government composed of members of the democrats, centrists and people's parties Marx had his troubles. He is ten identifiable party blocs in the reichstag and a few fragments of others.

Tried Lion and Lamb Stunt. During the legislation of the Dawes plan bills the position of the government was shown to be precarious. The nationalist leaders hemmed and hawed. First they might support the bills, then they had decided not to. Finally the nationalists permitted Marx to carry the laws through the reichstag. He was on their sufferance that he did so.

At once the chancellor set about to extend the foundations of his government. The cabinet, the socialists and the nationalists to enter the government. This rather visionary project failed at once.

Crisis Long Drawn. Marx then turned to the nationalists but the leaders of the party demanded at least four seats in the cabinet in exchange for their own support of Marx's policies. This Marx felt unable to grant and while he still was negotiating, a caucus of the democratic party, which already belonged to the coalition, voted to withdraw if the nationalists were incorporated into the government.

Since then Germany has been involved in a wearying "crisis" that seemed certain to end in the election that all party leaders hoped to avoid. There isn't a party in the reichstag financially able to go into a national campaign and for this reason as much as any other the leaders seasawed on the political teeter as long as they dared before finally choosing the obvious course.

Out of the election Marx hopes to obtain an adequate majority which would permit the consummation of his policies. The major issue he hopes to carry is the Dawes plan.

BORAH TO PLUMB HIDDEN MOTIVES

Continued From First Page. who has written appeals to 'the citizens of Pennsylvania,' asking for 'largest possible contributions,' will be a principal witness, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, said today it was his purpose to ascertain by cross-examination Grundy's business interests and also as to the truth of reports that he was one of the authors of the famous schedule "K" of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

Determined to Plumb Gifts. Edward P. Stodolny, Philadelphia banker, and Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, are other Philadelphia witnesses. Senator Borah said subpoenas had been issued for them.

Nathan T. Folwell, treasurer of the Manufacturers' club, Philadelphia, also is to be questioned on the basis of a letter sent by the finance committee of that club to its members soliciting funds for the republican campaign and emphasizing what was declared to be the importance of keeping a protective tariff act on the statute books.

Chairman Borah's purpose is to keep the investigation to the purpose of developing the source of campaign funds and the purposes for which they are expended. He is determined, he said, to follow every lead in this direction; to get at all the facts and, once having established that a man made a large contribution to develop whether he had a selfish interest in so doing.

Grundy, in one of his letters, stated that he was authorized by the republican national committee to make collections in Pennsylvania. "Outside of the Pittsburg district," Senator Borah said he would seek to find out who was charged with the collection in that district.

Walsh to Cross-Examine. During the inquiry into the alleged republican "slush" fund, Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, personal counsel for Senator La Follette, probably will be given the right to cross-examine witnesses. Mr. Walsh will have associated with him Samuel Untermyer, of New York, whom he has described as a supporter of John W. Davis and the democratic ticket.

After the La Follette charges are disposed of, it is the intention of the committee as expressed by Senator Borah, to go into the question of the source and the amount of funds which have been expended by the American Federation of Labor on behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket.

Chairman Borah said also that he would telegraph to Governor John J. Blaine, of Wisconsin, for the facts as to the charge of Chairman Butler, of the republican national committee, that the La Follette forces in that state are seeking to raise a fund of $500,000 for use in the congressional election in Wisconsin.

UNTERMYER JOINS FORCES WITH WALSH. New York, October 20.—Samuel Untermyer, prominent lawyer, announced today that he would take part in the campaign expenditure investigation being made by the senate committee of which Senator Borah is chairman.

Mr. Untermyer made his announcement after he had had several hours' conference with Frank P. Walsh, personal attorney for Senator Robert M. La Follette. The lawyer said he was entering the investigation because he considered it a public duty to assist in laying bare the possible details of campaign contributions.

Statement of Untermyer. Mr. Untermyer gave out the following statement: "As the result of my conference today with Mr. Walsh I have become convinced that I owe it as a public duty to comply with the request to give a professional aid in the Borah inquiry if, as a result of tomorrow's meeting of the committee, it is found possible to obtain access to the necessary witnesses and to the detailed information on all direct and indirect federal and state contributions from every source, whether to official bodies or otherwise."

"From what can be learned I have no doubt of this cooperation from the committee. Without it I would not care to have any part in the investigation for it would be worse than fruitless and would not justify the personal inconvenience and professional sacrifices involved."

"The only way to uncover the facts would be by boring deeply beneath the surface of apparently innocuous transactions and almost, if not quite, up to the day of the election. That takes time and involves infinite pain and patience."

Present Laws Inadequate. "These things are about as elusive as anything that can well be imagined, but with proper support from the committee the truth can be unearthed. There is nothing spectacular about such an undertaking."

"Although a life-long democrat and a warm supporter of Mr. Davis I am not interested in the political aspects of the subject. It should be pursued, if at all, from an entirely nonpolitical and nonpartisan point of view and will be treated as such as I am concerned."

"The existing laws as to political contributions are entirely inadequate to meet present conditions. The constitution of the Borah committee and the work it has laid out for itself in exposing the facts, will go far toward curing these defects in the law."

Declaring that the "power to punish for contempt is inherent in all courts," and "essential to the administration of justice," the supreme court said that it could not be doubted that such power could be regulated within certain limits.

Gen. Reminder to Congress. Congress could not abridge, it explained, the power of the courts to deal with contempts committed in the presence of the court or so near the court as to obstruct the administration of justice, nor to enforce its decrees. Congress, however, had not attempted to do any of these things in the Clayton act, the court said.

In that law congress required, the opinion said, a trial by jury upon the demand of the accused "in an independent proceeding at law for a criminal contempt which is also a crime." In criminal contempts, as in criminal cases, it pointed out, the presumption of innocence obtains. Under such circumstances the proof of guilt must be beyond reasonable doubt, it was added, and the defendant may not be compelled to be a witness against himself.

Strikers Still "Employees." Taking up the decision of the trial court that the workers had ceased when they went on strike to be "employees," within the meaning of the Clayton act, Justice Sutherland asserted that in the present controversy it was not necessary that the old statute of employer and employee should exist at the same time. The alleged contempt was committed in order to make effective the provision of the Clayton act with respect to a trial by jury. To say the railroad employees were outside the provisions of the statute, would be, the court said, to engraft upon it an exception not warranted by its terms.

To construe the jury provision of the statute as otherwise than mandatory, Justice Sutherland stated, "would be to subvert the plain intent and sound sense of the statute."

Sunderfur was held in contempt for violating an order of the court with respect to the use, and the threats, of violence in connection with a strike against the Canoe Creek Coal company in Kentucky. When the case reached the sixth circuit court of appeals that court asked the supreme court for instructions as to whether the trial by jury section of the Clayton act imposed a "valid restriction" upon the inherent judicial power of the United States district courts, meaning the power to punish for contempt. The supreme court replied that the restriction in the Clayton act was valid.

LABOR HAILS RULING AS VICTORY. Chicago, October 20.—The decision of the supreme court today in the Michaelson case involving the question of jury trial in contempt proceedings was hailed by spokesmen for organized labor as a victory in their fight against what they term "judicial excesses."

Donald B. Richberg, counsel for several labor organizations and attorney for the defense before the supreme court in the Michaelson proceedings, viewed the decision as marking "the turn of the tide in the increasing assumption of dangerous power by the courts."

"There is no question but that the result will be to diminish the abuses of injunctions issued out of the federal courts in labor disputes," Richberg said.

The legal concept overthrown by the decision, Richberg said, was the opinion long sustained in American practice that the power to punish for contempt was an inherent judicial power which brooked no interference by the legislative authority. The defense contention was that a jury trial in contempt cases was a constitutional guaranty.

UNITED STATES TO AID ARGENTINE AIRMAN

Washington, October 20.—The state department today assured the Argentine embassy that the United States would afford every facility to Major Zanni, the Argentine world flier, while on American soil. Letters from governors of states along the route were forwarded to the embassy pledging its cooperation, and a note from the interior department was inclosed, telling of plans of the governor of Alaska to render any necessary assistance.

Secretary Weeks, in a note transmitted to the embassy, declared the army air service had been instructed to extend every facility. The secretary pointed out that there are only two army air service stations along the route outlined in a previous Argentine note and suggested that the itinerary be changed so as to cover Cordova, Alaska; Prince Rupert, Seattle, Cheyenne, Wyo., Omaha, Dayton, Ohio, Halifax and Nova Scotia.

This would enable the army to give more help and allow the postoffice department to cooperate along the trans-continental air mail route.

1 Dead, 2 Hurt As Tongs Move War to Chicago

Chicago, October 20.—One Chinese was killed, two others probably fatally wounded and the lives of several more attempted in five separate attempts here tonight. The police ascribed the shooting to a renewal of warfare between powerful rival tongs. The arrest of all Chinese found acting suspiciously was ordered.

Willie Kee Kia, 23, part owner of west side restaurant, was shot and killed in the restaurant by a kitchen worker, who had obtained employment there but two days before. Joseph Hong, the employee, and an unidentified companion, escaped after the shooting.

Paul H. Moy and Moy Tong, owners of a laundry two miles away were seriously wounded by two other Chinese who had entered the place and without a word started shooting. Moy, before lapsing into unconsciousness, denied he was implicated in any long strife.

In the third attempt, Charlie Hung, owner of a laundry on the northwest side and a 15-year-old white boy, narrowly escaped being wounded when several bullets were fired through the window of the laundry.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH IN MOVIE FIRE PANIC

Louisville, Ky., October 20.—One person was trampled to death and 20 others were injured, five possibly fatally, in a panic which followed discovery of fire in a moving picture theater in New Castle, Ky., tonight, says a special dispatch to the Courier Journal.

Many of the injured were suffering from only minor hurts, the report said, and due to the excitement difficulty was experienced in obtaining names of the more seriously injured. Every available doctor in the place was called to the scene.

Origin of the fire, which, it seemed, would destroy the theater, was undetermined. Many children were in the building at the time of the panic.

FRENCH TO EVACUATE THREE MORE CITIES

Berlin, October 20.—Three more German cities are to be evacuated this week by the French troops, which marched onto German soil more than 18 months ago.

Reparations for the evacuation of Dortmund already have been made and the French troops are scheduled to quit the city in the half light of dawn Wednesday. Mannheim and another nearby city probably will be evacuated Tuesday.

Man Kills Suitor Of His Daughter In Row, Charge

Statesboro, October 20.—Rex I. Rushing, said to have been shot yesterday by Lucien A. Tyson, died this morning at the home of his father, Dolphus Rushing. The ball from the pistol was rusty and lodged in Rushing's chest in such a manner that blood poisoning set in before it was located.

Rushing called at Tyson's home Sunday afternoon to see Tyson's daughter. Tyson ordered him to leave and when Rushing refused, a scuffle ensued. Tyson was struck with a bill. Tyson then shot Rushing, according to reports made to officers. Tyson is now in jail here awaiting trial.

As the French soldiers began unmistakable preparations to withdraw from Dortmund the inhabitants had some difficulty in concealing their exultation. It is to prevent possible disturbance that the hour for evacuation has been set for early morning when most of the German citizens will be asleep.

OIL COMPANY DENIES RESTRAINT OF TRADE

Chicago, October 20.—Many contracts complained of by the government in its suit started last June under the Sherman act against a group of oil companies expired long before the suit was filed, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana set up in its answer today. The Texas company recently filed a general denial of the charges. The licensing of one company to use the patents of another was the result of patents overlapping so that some companies were threatening each other with infringement suits, said the answer. To obviate the situation, the answer set forth, it was agreed to adjust the controversies for use of gasoline "cracking" patents by licensing the companies, so-called pooling agreements. They were not combinations in restraint of trade or commerce as charged by the government, the answer asserted, but on the contrary the Standard Oil Company of Indiana "has endeavored to and has observed in letter and spirit the laws of the United States of America."

Owens 23 Patents. The defendant company, according to the answer, owns 23 different, valid United States patents for the cracking process. Early in its experience in licensing other companies to use its patents, the answer said, there were restrictive clauses in the contracts, but it was advised by its counsel for the protection of its business, but "all contracts containing the restrictive provision" about the government complaint expired more than six years before filing the suit. Its licenses now, the company contended, "are wholly free of limitation as to quantity of production, place of sale or price."

The government's charge that the "cracked" gasoline was not patentable was denied by the company, which said that the "cracked" gasoline was something new and useful, although in some characteristics similar to the "straight-run" gasoline.

The company believed that some of its licenses in using some of its processes have sold "cracked" gasoline in violation of their agreements. After patenting its "Burton cracking process" in the United States, the company obtained a similar patent in Canada, the answer said. At that time the Canadian patent act of 1906, according to the answer, contained the paragraph:

"If, after the expiration of twelve months, from the granting of a patent, or an authorized extension of such patent, the patentee or patentees, or import or cause to be imported into Canada the invention for which the patent is granted, such patent shall be void as to the interest of the person or persons so importing or causing to be imported."

Denies Confirmation. Because of that legal restriction a corresponding restriction to protect its Canadian patents was inserted in its contracts, the answer set forth, and "that the said statute in effect at the time of the execution of the said contract continued in full force and effect in the Dominion of Canada until the first day of September, 1923, that no occasion has arisen since September 1, 1923, to modify or to change such contract and it, accordingly, remains nominally in effect as originally executed."

The answer denied that the Indiana company is, or has been a party to any pool or combination in restraint of trade, or that it has made any contracts restricting trade beyond its lawful rights under its patents. On the contrary it averred the company has voluntarily adopted the policy of extending its patent rights broadly to others, thereby greatly increasing the quantity of motor fuel produced and maintaining prices much lower than they would have been had it reserved its patented processes exclusively to itself as it might lawfully have done.

COUNCIL OF LEAGUE WILL MEET ON IRAK

Geneva, October 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Officials of the League of Nations announced today that a sufficient number of favorable replies had been received from member nations to assure that a special meeting of the council to settle the difficulties between Great Britain and Turkey over the Iraq boundary would be held at Brussels, October 27, instead of at Paris, as had been originally intended.

Considerable criticism of the policy of holding the council and other league meetings outside of Geneva has arisen on the ground that such procedure is unduly expensive and because Geneva is considered neutral. The council has adopted the principle that it shall not meet outside of Geneva, but that once a year will be held in Rome. The forthcoming special meeting at Brussels will be considered as exceptional. The agenda probably will be confined to the Mosul boundary problem.

U. S. WINS RENEWAL OF POTTERY CASE

Plea Sounded for Adequate Wage for Postal Employees

Adequate wages for postal workers and the recently-vetted bill which it passed would have increased the compensation of this class of men, were the main points of discussion in the address of Henry W. Strickland, of Washington, before a gathering of postal and railway postal employees at the Ansley hotel at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Mr. Strickland, who is secretary of the Railway Mail Association and editor of the Railway Post Office, official organ of the organization, spoke in favor of the defeated compensation bill and declared that it was his belief that the president had vetoed it because of misinformation given him by department officials.

His address in part follows: "The matter of a living and adequate wage for the postal workers is one of the real questions before the country today. This question cannot be settled until it is settled right; and that can be done only by the passage of the vetoed bill. That bill, which is Senate bill No. 1895, is reasonable and equitable."

Look Plea to Public. While the increase of $900 a year provided by it, is only 50 per cent of what the postal workers are now getting, it brings their present salaries up to the present cost of living, yet as patriotic citizens, they realize the present hardship of the country and want to be reasonable and equitable. It must be remembered, too, that the postal workers are not only the postal employees, but also the postoffice employees, which was made after a full investigation of the wages of postal workers. It must be remembered, too, that the postal workers are not only the postal employees, but also the postoffice employees, which was made after a full investigation of the wages of postal workers.

There was not an objection cited in the veto message that had not been heard and carefully investigated by the postoffice committee of congress with the result that they were found unsubstantial. What were the reasons for the increase of postal workers? For giving them a living wage to the heavy tax on the farmers, who, in fact, are the largest users of the postal service. And fourth, that the proposed increase of postal rates would be a heavy tax on the farmers, who, in fact, are the largest users of the postal service.

Every one is agreed that extravagance government must cease. But is it extravagant to pay postal workers a living wage? Or to give them an increase in salary? The answer is, no. The postal workers are not only the postal employees, but also the postoffice employees, which was made after a full investigation of the wages of postal workers.

It is now also agreed that the national treasury was not in such a deplorable condition as the experts made it seem during the last session of congress. On the basis of present income tax returns and revenue from the tariff and other sources the treasury experts now estimate that the balance in the treasury at the end of the present fiscal year will not be less than $245,000,000. So it seems, after all, the postal workers could be paid a living wage without throwing the country into bankruptcy or into a deplorable condition.

Agricultural Bureaus Tell How To Fight Peach Tree Scale

Fort Valley, Ga., October 20.—In a circular issued today by the bureau of entomology and plant industry of the United States department of agriculture, cooperating with the Georgia state board of entomology, directions for the use of lubricating oil emulsions in fighting the San Jose scale on peach trees, are explained by laboratory experts.

Lubricating oil emulsions, whether made from the boiled or cold pumped formulas, or purchased from manufacturers, says the circular, "have proven effective for the control of the San Jose scale on peach trees, when used at a 2 per cent strength during the dormant season. The bureau of entomology has had two years' experience in the use of these emulsions on the same peach trees, and there has been excellent control of the scale and no discernible injury to the buds, twigs or collars."

Oil Formulas. Lubricating oil emulsion is prepared from one of the following formulas: The boiled formula—Small quantity, red engine oil, or oil of similar grade, one gallon, water, 1-2 gallon, potash fishoil soap, 1 pound. Large quantity, 20 gallons, 15 gallons, 30 pounds.

"When a small quantity is to be prepared the ingredients are placed in a kettle and boiled for a few minutes until the brown scum which forms on the top, has disappeared. The kettle should then be removed from the fire and the contents pumped twice under at least 60 pounds pressure while still hot. The emulsion prepared in this manner should be used shortly after it is made."

"To make the boiled emulsion on a large scale the following equipment is necessary: Two 50-gallon barrels, one 300-gallon storage tank, one all-metal triplex pump developing 250 pounds pressure, one 4-h. p. engine, one boiler, and necessary connections. This equipment would be of use only to growers with a large acreage or a group of growers with smaller acreages."

"When made on a large scale and pumped four times under high pressure the emulsion will hold up for several months. The method given for preparing large quantities of the emulsion is similar to that employed by large scale manufacturers. Emulsions prepared in this manner will hold up during the entire spraying season as long as the temperature remains above 15 degrees Fahrenheit."

Cold-Pumped Method. Cold-pumped formula: Red engine oil or similar grade, 30 gallons; water, 15 gallons; calcium, 30 pounds, 4 pounds. The following equipment is necessary for preparing the cold-pumped emulsion: Two 50-gallon barrels; one duplex or triplex pump, and one 3- or 4-h. p. engine, the ordinary power sprayer with suction attachment.

"The ingredients are placed in a 50-gallon barrel and stirred, then the suction hose is placed in the barrel and the motor started. Allow the ingredients to be sucked through the pumps under pressure and out through the spray rods with discs removed into another 50-gallon barrel. Repeat the operation until all materials have passed through the pump three times. Lubricating oil emulsion made from this formula will not hold up long and should be made daily as required. This kind of emulsion is especially easy to make on the farm."

Y. M. C. A. Recites Activities In Behalf of Georgia Youth

(Editor's note: This is the tenth of a series of articles being furnished by the Atlanta Community Chest to acquaint the public with the work of the agencies in the Chest. The Constitution is running them to help the Community Chest.)

BY THOMAS JOHNSON.
The state committee of the Y. M. C. A. is the agency that promotes and extends the movement in the state of Georgia.

It is engaged in building a Christian citizenship that will help to make a better and stronger state in which to live. In addition to the general work of cooperation and supervision with the local association, the committee is directly responsible for and promotes the organization of Hi-Y clubs in the high schools of the state. At the present time, forty of these clubs are organized in as many high schools, and other clubs will be organized as rapidly as the workers can get to them.

The committee also has a direct responsibility to the student associations in the state, having eight organized now.

The promotion and conducting of the older boys' conferences is also a special feature of the committee's work, and thirteen of these conferences have been held, with over 1,200 boys in attendance, coming principally from the high schools in the state.

There are 300,000 boys between the ages of 10 and 19 in the state, most of whom are living in small towns and rural communities. The state committee of the "Y" feels that they have an obligation to these boys and seek to extend the "Y" program in these future citizens of Georgia, through the Hi-Y clubs and other non-equipment type of work.

This formula will not hold up long and should be made daily as required. This kind of emulsion is especially easy to make on the farm.

BULLOCH COUNTY OPENS BIGGEST FAIR TODAY

Statesboro, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The biggest show ever put on of products of Bulloch county will be presented here at the Bulloch county fair which will open Tuesday and continue through the week. Secretary L. A. Akins is optimistic over the outlook of having the best fair in the history of the organization. Farmers have had excellent seasons during the entire year for making crops. Pre-fair displays have been placed in windows of local banks, giving an evidence of some of the products that have been raised in Bulloch this year. The fair will open with a big parade. A great many merchants, women's clubs, members and others have entered floats in the parade and prizes will be awarded. Secretary Akins announces that some of the best displays ever seen at a fair in Statesboro have been booked. Farmers are raising pure bred Duroc-Jerseys, Hampshire and other pure breeds, he declared. The scrub cow has been replaced by pure bred Jerseys, Holstein and others. It is announced that midway attractions will be better than formerly. Horse racing will be a feature. Entries have been made from several cities. The track has been put in excellent condition and all is ready for the opening.

Macon Lets Contract For $100,000 Stadium At Council Meet Today

Macon, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Contract for the Macon municipal stadium will be awarded tomorrow by the Macon city council. Twelve bids had been received up to tonight, including those of six Atlanta concerns, Griffin-Hodges company, Southern Ferro Concrete company, J. B. McCrary Engineering company, Pittman Construction company and The A. K. Adams company. The estimated cost of the structure will be $100,000, bonds having been voted last spring. The stadium will be built a short distance from Mercer university and will cover about seven acres.

BIENNIAL SESSIONS URGED BY MUNDY

Cedartown, Ga., October 20.—"Georgia needs less legislation of certain kinds and more industrial developments," asserts Senator William W. Mundy, of the 38th district, in a statement prepared for The Associated Press, in which he urges Georgia voters to study the eight proposed constitutional amendments, and to express themselves at the ballot box in the November general election. Senator Mundy is the author of the proposed constitutional amendment which would provide for biennial sessions of the Georgia general assembly, instead of annual sessions. Concerning the proposed constitutional amendment which, if ratified by the people, would provide for a 60-day session in 1925, and the next session to fall in 1927, Senator Mundy says that it "is one of the economic measures and is the beginning of that saving which Georgia so much needs."

In discussing the amendment, of which he is the author, Senator Mundy says: "Forty-two states of the United States have biennial sessions. Alabama has quadrennial sessions. The general assembly of South Carolina voted this year to hold Georgia, recommending biennial sessions. No doubt Georgia and South Carolina both will ratify the proposed amendment. Governors Urge Measure. "I wrote 25 governors, to know whether biennial sessions were satisfactory. Practically every governor replied promptly that they much preferred them to annual sessions. Several of the governors said there was a strong sentiment toward quadrennial sessions. The governors of Georgia for several years have pleaded for passage of this bill. Governors Dorsey, Hardwick and Walker have favored and recommended the passage of this amendment. The great majority of men who have studied this question are convinced that annual sessions of the general assembly are unnecessary; they cause too frequent changes in the law, the enactment of too many new laws; spend too much money, create too many offices, and make too many appropriations. "The general assembly has for years levied taxes and made appropriations to cover the revenue thus raised for biennial sessions. The budget bill in 1922 specifically provides that the budget commission shall report to the regular session of the general assembly the estimated revenue and appropriations for the next biennium, that is for two years. There will be no necessity for a regular meeting of the general assembly in 1926.

Annual Sessions Costly. "Annual sessions of the assembly are very expensive. Each session actually costs about $125,000. Fifty-one senators, and 206 members of the house, together with a large number of employees, could well afford to remain at their respective places of business every other year. The annual session disrupts business. "Annual sessions retard industrial progress and development of our state on account of uncertainty of the frequent changes in the laws of the state. I believe the press of the state favors this law. If the proposed amendment is a good one, I trust that the press, both daily and weekly, will give due publicity to the facts in favor of this bill, and if it is a bad law that they will give the facts against it and illustrate in that argument why the people should vote in the union have made a mistake by enacting the laws and retaining it. "It seems to me that it would be unbecoming for any taxpayer or business man in Georgia to criticize the legislature hereafter on account of its expenses and increased taxes, if such party fails to go to the polls and vote for this amendment. Every voter in the state has an opportunity in November to vote for this law or against it. "People of Georgia are now burdened with taxes. I noticed a statement in newspapers recently made by Mr. Fullbright, the state tax commissioner, that in a great many counties the tax rate has been increased. "Did you ever stop to think that the Georgia assembly, while it has annual sessions, is in regular session one-seventh of the time, and even if this amendment is passed, that the assembly will then be in regular session one-twelfth of the time?"

ATLANTA SHOWS LITTLE INCREASE IN LIVING COSTS

Washington, October 20.—The cost of living in the United States increased nine-tenths of 1 per cent from June to September of this year, although for the year period beginning with September, 1923, the general level decreased by the same amount. These changes, set forth in a statement today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor, disclosed a net general increase of 70.6 per cent from December, 1917, to September, 1924. Increases between June and September were topped by 1.8 per cent in Mobile. Boston was second with 1.7 per cent; Birmingham reported 1.5; Richmond and Jacksonville 1.3; New Orleans and Memphis 0.8; Chicago, Norfolk and Washington 0.6; New York 0.5; St. Louis and Savannah, 0.4; Atlanta, Seattle and Philadelphia 0.1.

EXHIBITS FOR FAIR ENTERED IN SUMTER

Americus, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Exhibits for the Sumter county fair to be held here November 4-8, are being made and entered for community exhibit prizes offered by the fair management. This contest has just been announced by Henry P. Everett, secretary of the Americus and Sumter county chamber of commerce, under auspices of which organization the fair will be held. The fair association, Mr. Everett states, has signed a number of new mid-way attractions, including the great Smith shows. It is planned to make this the greatest and best fair ever staged here. Indications now are that the exhibits will be better and more comprehensive than ever before, and that every community and branch of industry in the county will be represented.

INDEPENDENT TICKET SEEKS GEORGIA VOTES

Millen, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Colonel William G. McRae, chairman of the speakers' bureau for the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, spoke to a large audience here this afternoon in the interest of the independent ticket. The speaker said that republicans ignore the south, and that after an election, democrats forget the south, under the present system of party control. He called on Georgians to "aid in the formation of a third party to protect their rights."

MRS. A. S. PHINIZY, PIONEER GEORGIAN, DIES AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. A. S. Phinizy, 91, widow of the late Ferdinand Phinizy, one of the pioneer and wealthy citizens of this section of the state, died here tonight, following an illness of several months. She is survived by two sons, Barrett Phinizy, of Athens, and Charlie Phinizy, of Augusta; three nieces, Mrs. Harriett Jeffries, Mrs. Victor Barbot and Mrs. Russell Cohen, all of Augusta; a step-son, Billups Phinizy, Athens, and a step-daughter, Mrs. A. W. Calhoun, of Atlanta. She was Miss Anne Barrett, of Augusta, before her marriage. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WARE COUNTY READY FOR OPENING OF FAIR

Waycross, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Final preparations were completed this afternoon by the Ware county fair committee for the opening tomorrow morning, and Manager Elkins announced that from present indications, the fair is to be one of the most successful ever held. The fair this year is sponsored by the Waycross and Ware County Chamber of Commerce and a committee from that organization has been working for the past six months. Exhibits have been pouring into the city from every section of southeast Georgia during the day.

The women's department is to be the most elaborate display of its kind ever held, the committee in charge of the arrangement of the display announced today. From the amount of publicity given the fair, and from the interest shown by farmers from every section of the county, and from adjoining counties, the fair committee expects thousands to visit the grounds during the four days.

Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House

Bedroom
A waxed and polished floor of Armstrong's
Jaspé Linoleum.

Women Are Learning that Linoleum Is Pretty

TEN years ago a linoleum floor might never have been considered for this charming bedroom.

For then there were not nearly so many beautiful designs and color effects as are now found in modern linoleum. Nor was linoleum laid then as it is now—by cementing—assuring an unbroken expanse of lustrous smoothness.

But today women are waking up to the fact that linoleum floors may be truly beautiful. When the bedroom shown in the picture was being redecorated, the floor was the most stubborn problem. It was an old board floor. It had been varnished one year, stained the next, painted the next. But it seemed impossible to make it a pretty floor. Wide cracks and ugly scars could not be disguised. Nothing in the room looked right. The floor interfered with the whole color scheme.

Finally an interior decorator suggested a floor of fine linoleum. Armstrong's Linoleum was chosen in the pleasing new Jaspé design. Its coloring harmonized with furniture, curtains, fabric rugs. Because it was carefully cemented in place over a lining of builders' deadening felt, it was a snug, flat floor. There were no cracks; the seams were expertly joined. It was and is a handsome floor in a most attractive room.

Warm, quiet, and easy to clean

Floors of linoleum are satisfactory floors. They are quiet under foot-steps. After their first washing and thorough waxing, linoleum floors need little care. Daily wiping with a dry mop takes up dust and dirt. Go over the entire floor once a week with a cloth moistened in liquid wax to restore the polish. Do not scour or scrub fine linoleum—it is actually harmful, and unnecessary on a waxed floor.

Where to see the new patterns

You can find an interesting display of the new designs and colors of Armstrong's Linoleum at good department and furniture stores. When you look at linoleum, think of it as laid flat on your floor, waxed and polished, and your fabric rugs spread upon it. That is the way to realize the beauty of a linoleum floor.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of colorplates of distinctive designs appropriate for every room in your house—Jaspés, carpet inlays, tile inlays, and printed patterns; and linoleum rugs, both printed and inlaid.

If you wish specific advice about color schemes for floors, wall coverings, and draperies, simply write to our Bureau of Interior Decoration, in charge of Mrs. Hazel Dell Brown, describing the room or rooms you are planning. No charge is made for this service.

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs, printed or inlaid, like all Armstrong's Linoleum, are made of cork, linseed oil, and burlap, and have the Circle "A" trademark on the burlap back. Made in four sizes.

From day to day, as the school will be published on this page, depend-

My Special Rolls.

Cook well-done enough potatoes to amount to one and a half cups when run through a ricer; dissolve one cake of yeast in one cup of tepid water; to the potatoes add two eggs beaten light, one-half cup of sugar, then the yeast; add one cup of flour and one cup of sweet milk, alternately, beating with egg white, if necessary, add more flour to make as thick as for batter cakes; let rise to twice its bulk in warm place free from draughts; make into smooth dough with one quart of flour, one heaping teaspoon of salt and one cooking spoonful of fat. In winter it takes batter about two hours to rise. In summer not so long.
Roll out, cut with biscuit cutter, put into greased pan, grease the tops, cover, let rise one hour and bake.

George Washington Cherry Cake.

Three-quarters cup butter, 1 3-4 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 6 eggs, whites; 3 cups flour, 1 cup milk, 3 level teaspoons baking powder; add one cup cherries, cut in two or three pieces. Bake in loaf pan.

Corn Flake Cakes.

2 eggs
4 heaping cups of corn flakes
1 cup pecans
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla flavoring

Beat eggs very light, add sugar, flavor, corn flakes and last nuts. This should be very stiff. Drop in scant teaspoonful on greased pan. Pile them up as they spread. One cup coconut may be used instead of pecans for a change.

Asparagus Cheese.

1 can asparagus tips
1 cup blanched almonds
1 cup yellow cheese
Make a thick white sauce, using asparagus juice with one cup sweet milk, one tablespoon each of flour and butter, add to this the cheese. Cut asparagus in three pieces. Put in baking pan, cover with cheese sauce with almonds cut in two or three strips bread-
ed. Sprinkle top with soft bread crumbs and bits of butter run in over to season and brown. Delicious.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness or are subject to frequent colds, get from any drug store a convenient packet size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effect.—(adv.)

JUDGES TO CHAIN LAW VIOLATORS IN BOOM TOWN

Wewoka, Okla., October 20.—Equipped with a 50-foot chain to which he proposes to handcuff law violators and march them 15 miles to jail here, Judge G. C. Crump, of the ninth judicial district, planned to go late today to Cromwell, Oklahoma's newest oil boom town, where, it is charged, vice and minor crime are rampant.

Judge Crump convened a brief court of inquiry here today as a prelude to his activities. Tomorrow he will convene a similar court here and as evidence is found arrests will be made and the "chaingang" formed, he declared.

"I'm going to start marching them tomorrow," Judge Crump said.

Early in September Judge Crump, in cooperation with Sheriff J. A. Doyle, went to Cromwell, with his chain and a number of alleged law violators made the trip on foot to Wewoka with a deputy sheriff at either end of the line.

Cromwell, which was incorporated recently, has a population of about 3,000.

WASTE MATERIAL MEN IN CONVENTION TODAY

The annual dinner tonight at the Biltmore hotel will feature the first day's program of the convention of waste material dealers of the southeastern states, which opens a two-day session this morning at Robert Fulton hotel. Delegates will register at the hotel at 11 o'clock this morning, after which they will have luncheon at 1 o'clock. A business session will be held in the afternoon in the ballroom of the Robert Fulton.

About 75 delegates, it is expected, will attend the convention. Representatives of many eastern and western states also will be in attendance, including Harry K. Stone, president of the A. M. Wood, Inc. of Philadelphia, national president of the association, and H. M. Lazarus, of New York, editor of the association's official publication.

Wednesday the visitors will be carried on a tour of the city and will visit Stone Mountain. They will attend a theater party Wednesday night.

Harry Rittenbaum is local chairman and has charge of arranging the convention. Local firms that are members of the association include Berman Paper Stock company, Capital Hide and Metal company, Filson-Hirsch company, Georgia Wool Stock company, Rittenbaum Brothers and Seitzinger Sons.

APARTMENT HOUSE IS "RESIDENCE," COURT DECIDES

A clause in a deed restricting the use of a lot to the erection of a building "for residence purposes" does not prohibit erection of an apartment house to be used exclusively for residence purposes, the Georgia supreme court, the decision was handed down in the case of Mrs. June Courtney, Mrs. Charlotte Green, et al., vs. H. Adams and M. L. Throver against Ross Hunter.

The case arose when the petitioners sought to enjoin Mr. Hunter from erecting a 22-unit apartment house on a lot in Peachtree Heights, fronting 100 feet on Peachtree road. In the petition it was claimed that the plaintiffs bought adjacent property with the understanding that it would be used for residence purposes only, and such a provision was contained in the deed given by Peachtree Heights company to Mrs. Matilda Reinstein, who bought the lot in 1911 and later sold it to Mr. Hunter.

Mrs. Courtney, in the petition, said she had invested $50,000 in a home adjacent to the apartment site, and her property would be damaged by erection of the apartment house.

An interlocutory injunction was denied in Fulton superior court by Judge E. D. Thomas and his ruling was affirmed by the supreme court.

The opening session was called to order by Chairman A. T. Miller, national secretary of the association, who introduced Howard Haire, classified advertising manager of The Atlanta Constitution, who delivered the address of welcome.

The feature address of the morning session was delivered by John L. Irwin, president of the organization and classified advertising manager of the Des Moines Register-Tribune, who outlined the purposes of the southern division meeting.

Questions concerning classified management, publisher cooperation, equipment, ad-takers, promotion copy and space, composing-room, street salesmen, typography and foreign business were discussed at length.

Mr. Frenkel was the principal speaker of the afternoon session, speaking on "Development of Voluntary Business." A banquet in the ballroom of the Ansley, followed by a theater party, concluded sessions for the opening day.

"The Irwin session," known as a general discussion period, will be observed, beginning at 9:45 o'clock. "Sidelights on Columbus Convention," a review of the recent convention held by the national organization of classified ad managers, will be read by Mr. Miller. J. W. Mann, of the Lexington Leader, will be one of the principal speakers of the afternoon session, speaking on "Ten Business-Building Ideas."

Features of the closing session will be selection of the next convention city and a trip to Stone Mountain.

DRIVE IS LAUNCHED TO COLLECT PLEDGES

A concerted drive has been launched to secure pledges to the Christian Education fund of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist church, of those pledges which are and have for sometime been due. J. H. Ewing, financial director of the movement, and Rev. Elam F. Dempsey, secretary, are leaders of the drive.

Money raised in the drive goes toward maintenance of churches of the church. Many of the pledges to the fund were made in 1921 and others are now due, it is said. Collection of the fund is the aim of the drive.

Mr. Ewing has sent to laymen throughout the North Georgia conference letters urging that substantial payments be made, as well as the smaller colleges of the conference are greatly in need of financial aid. These colleges, he said in the letters, are furnishing a steady stream of educated men and it is imperative that the institutions be provided with funds to continue their existence.

Conditions demand trained men to carry the gospel, the letters said, and the responsibility of furnishing these men rests entirely on the laymen. "Put this important matter on your hearts and consciences and respond as liberally as your financial circumstances justify," the letter concluded.

Approximately $200,000 worth of pledges collected since pledges were made, Dr. Dempsey declared Monday. The following distributions have been made: Reinhardt college, $9,537; Young Harris college, $23,653; Wesleyan college, $44,811; liberal arts school of Emory university, $8,295, and the academy of Emory, 1,015.

In 1921, at the time pledges were made, Mr. Ewing and Dr. James E. Hickey, now bishop in the Texas and New Mexico conferences, toured northern Georgia in the interest of the fund.

In giving the distribution of funds among colleges of the conference, it was pointed out that Emory university had received $348,330. This includes, however, all money from all conferences east of the Mississippi, it was stated.

THE PROBLEM: What is the Sum Total of the Figures Forming the Elephant? Include the Figures in the Groundwork Under the Elephant. Simply Add Them Up To Get the Solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers." There are no groups of figures, such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

This contest extends from Sunday, September 28th, to and including Saturday, November 8th, 1924.
6. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions, and another prize will be awarded to those tied. That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. If ties still result, as many as four tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should ties still result each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts.

NAME CARPENTER
MAYOR PRO TEM.

Alderman I. N. Ragsdale, of the tenth ward, who has served in city council almost continuously since 1910, Monday resigned both as mayor pro tem. and as a member of general council in order to become a candidate for a member of the Fulton county board of commissioners at the November 4 election.

Alderman J. L. Carpenter, of the 11th ward, was elected unanimously as mayor pro tem. to serve out Mr. Ragsdale's unexpired term, and took the chair at Monday's meeting of council following Mr. Ragsdale's resignation.

Following tender of his resignation, Mr. Ragsdale was presented with a beautiful chair by members of general council, the presentation speech being made by Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, of the third ward. Mr. Hartsfield reviewed Mr. Ragsdale's record, telling of his fine work on behalf of the city and his splendid record in public office. Practically every member of council expressed regret at Mr. Ragsdale's resignation.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Ragsdale told of his regret at leaving council, and paid high tribute to his colleagues.

Mr. Ragsdale was elected to council in 1910, and with the exception of three years, has served continuously.

He was elected mayor pro tem. this year without opposition.

He was named a member of the county board at the March democratic primary, and as nomination is equivalent to election, he will be inducted into his new office January 1. However, it was necessary for him to resign from council in order to stand for election next month.

Mr. Ragsdale's last act as a member of council was nomination of Mr. Carpenter as his successor as mayor pro tem. in both his nominating speech and the second talk made by Councilman J. Allen Couch, Mr. Carpenter was praised for his faithful and unselfish service. He is the oldest member of council in point of service.

LARGER COMMITTEES

Members would make the city government so cumbersome that nothing ever could be done.

Councilman J. Allen Couch answered Mr. Hartsfield's talk by stating that the people have been promised representation, and that increasing the number of members on all important committees is the only way in which they can be given direct representation.

Mr. Couch claimed that increase of the number of members on committees would not make city government more difficult, but would enable every member of council to better serve the people of his ward.

Question Thoroughly Debated.

Short talks were made by a number of councilmen for both sides of the question, and every detail of its object and probable effect were brought out by questions shot at all speakers.

Following the remarks, a motion to refer the matter to the ordinance committee for consideration was defeated by a vote of 17 to 15, the last few votes being the deciding ones.

A motion to place it on a second reading also was defeated, with a two-thirds majority necessary, 18 voted favorably, with 14 against it.

With an enforced delay in action on the ordinance, it will be read again at the next regular meeting and definite action taken. Vote on both Monday and Tuesday, however, the members controlled a majority of votes, which will be sufficient to secure its passage at the next meeting, but demonstration that they could not marshal sufficient strength for a two-thirds majority, which would be necessary in event the ordinance was passed in council and vetoed by the mayor.

Only First Step.

It is recognized that the measure introduced Monday is only the initial step toward radical changes in the form of the city's government. At present, committees on streets and fire department are composed of 12 members, and the ordinance increases the number on practically every important committee to the same.

Reports circulated around city hall Monday stated that if the ordinance is passed, the next move will be to consolidate various committees, merge the present 30 committees into 12, and having one councilman from each ward a member of every committee.

Council Approves.

Sale of street improvement bonds amounting to $175,000 to Roosevelt & Sons, of New York city, was approved Monday by city council. The company's bid of $177,955.96 was the highest of the eight received. The sale was approved by the finance committee of council at a special meeting Monday morning.

The second bid, offering $177,498.50, was made by the R. W. Pressprich company, of New York, while the bid of W. L. Slayton & Co., of Toledo, who offered $177,097.95, was third. Several Atlanta concerns submitted bids.

PORTWOOD, ACREE
GET BACK SALARY
BY COUNCIL VOTE

Back salaries for City Detectives E. S. Acree and L. D. Portwood, held up during their recent suspension, were allowed by vote of general council Monday.

Both detectives were suspended following shooting of R. E. Farlow, an alleged liquor runner, but evidence brought before the grand jury was not sufficient to indict them, and they were released and reinstated by the police committee of council.

Council also voted to pay a half month's salary of the late Recorder George P. Jones, to his family. His salary from October 15 to 31 already has been appropriated, and that amount will go to his family.

PROHIBIT POLICE FROM ACCEPTING REWARD FOR AUTOS

Members of the Atlanta police department were prohibited from accepting rewards for apprehension of criminals or recovery of stolen automobiles by an ordinance passed Monday afternoon by city council. Money received from such sources in the future will be given to the Police Relief association.

The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Ed H. Inman at the last meeting of council, and was approved by the ordinance committee last week.

When the measure first was introduced, it was stated that considerable dissension had been caused in police ranks by the fact that certain members of the department were assigned to duties on which they had opportunities to earn rewards, and that the same chances were not presented to others.

TAKE RESIGNATION OF A. I. BRANHAM
ON LIBRARY BOARD

Resignation of A. I. Branham, of the twelfth ward, as a trustee of the Carnegie library, was accepted by city council Monday. In his letter of resignation, Mr. Branham failed to give any reason for his action.

FOR ENGINE HOUSE
FOR NINTH WARD

The contract for construction of a new fire engine house in the ninth ward Monday was awarded to the Paul Wesley Construction company by city council, and work will start immediately. The new engine house will serve the Highland-Virginia avenue section.

The contract calls for an engine house to cost $22,700, and its award is contingent on payment by Fulton county of $7,000. Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, chairman of the fire committee, stated that the money can be obtained from the county at any time, and it is planned to start work on the building at once.

In return for the $7,000 from Fulton county, the city has promised to give the county fire protection wherever there are water mains. The measure promising protection for the county was passed only after considerable opposition, as several councilmen contended that such protection would cost the city an amount far in excess of the money given by the county for part payment of building the new fire engine house.

An appropriation of $17,000 was voted to purchase an automobile for the assistant chief at the No. 8 fire engine house. The purchase was authorized on condition that the automobile can be paid for next year, and provision will be made in the 1925 finance sheet.

PROPOSED FUND TO PAY NURSES TO COMMITTEE

A resolution providing for $1,500 to pay half of the salaries for next year of the two nurses engaged in prenatal work here was referred Monday to the finance committee by general council.

The resolution, introduced by Alderman W. B. Duval, as chairman of the sanitary committee, stated that such an appropriation is necessary if an equal amount is to be provided by the state under terms of the Shepherd-Towner bill.

MOVE TO EXTEND TAX TIME LIMIT IS UNSUCCESSFUL

Proposal to extend for 30 days the time in which Atlantans could pay taxes was defeated in city council Monday when City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled that such a measure would be illegal.

The ordinance, as introduced by Alderman Jesse W. Armistead and Councilmen W. Garland Cooper and W. M. Etheridge, ordered tax assessors to defer issuance of executions for unpaid taxes for 30 days, at request of Alderman W. B. Hartsfield for a ruling. City Attorney Mayson decided that the extra 30 days of grace could not be granted, as the law states that the tax books shall close October 15.

If tax are being issued for all taxes which are not paid on that date, and in addition to $150, or the cost of a fi fa, delinquent property owners will be forced to pay seven per cent interest in taxes.

City Tax Collector Marvin P. Roane stated Monday that a large number of checks mailed on or before October 15 have not yet been counted, and the total amount of taxes cannot be estimated. However, it is expected that total revenues from general taxes will be more than $1,000,000 under anticipated receipts of $5,250,000.

TOWARD WIDENING
MADISON AVENUE

Preliminary steps toward widening of Madison avenue from Peters street to Castleberry street, and extending it from Castleberry to Forsyth street, will be undertaken immediately, as city council Monday voted to name the project.

The committee will investigate all property to be affected by the improvement, and decide amounts of benefits and damages to property owners with a view of adjusting assessments.

ONLY CITY CARS
ALLOWED TO PARK
ON PUBLIC PLOT

After a fight which lasted for almost an hour and which necessitated a vote on four separate motions, city council Monday passed an ordinance prohibiting parking of any other than city-owned automobiles in the parking space in the rear of city hall. The ordinance had been reported favorably by the streets committee.

At the time the ordinance was introduced, it was explained by sponsors of the ordinance, that the space should be open to all cars and that parking of automobiles in that space should be encouraged rather than prohibited.

Following a long discussion, a motion to table the ordinance was defeated by a vote of 13 to 5. The next motion, on to refer the ordinance to the ordinance committee, was beaten by a 12-6 vote. Council then passed a motion to place the ordinance on second reading by a vote of 11 to 1, and the ordinance finally was adopted by a 13-5 vote.

PERMISSION ASKED TO USE RESIDENCE
AS NURSING HOME

A petition introduced in council Monday afternoon by Dr. N. M. Owens, asking permission to use the residence at 145 Peachtree street as a nursing home, was referred to the hospital committee. The petition will be taken up at a meeting to be held at 11 o'clock the morning of Oct. 21.

The petition states that elderly women and patients needing rest cures would be accepted, but that no infectious or surgical cases will be handled.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS
VETOES OF MAYOR
ON SALARY HIKES

All vetoes of Mayor Walter A. Sims were sustained Monday by city council, when motions to override the chief executive's veto of salary increases for a number of city employees were defeated.

No attempt was made to override his only other veto, which prevented appropriation of $200 to pay expenses of John P. Kennedy, health officer, on an inspection tour of pasteurization plants of Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, as other arrangements already have been made, and Dr. Kennedy is now in Detroit attending a meeting of the country's leading physicians.

A motion, Councilman Horace Russell to pass salary increases for Carnegie library employees over the mayor's veto was defeated by a vote of 13 to 8. The salary hikes were for ten employees. An increase of $25 per month had been asked for the librarian, $15 per month for other employees of the library, and $10 per month for heads of various library branches in the city.

The vote to override a veto of a $25 increase for the stenographer in the building inspector's office was 11 to 10, and on a similar increase for the secretary of the park committee, the vote was 13 to 9. Although both received majorities, neither has given the necessary two-thirds.

On motion of Alderman W. E. Duval, who introduced the original resolution, veto of the milk tour measure was filed. On learning that Dr. Kennedy's proposed trip was not to inspect pasteurization plants, but to attend the Detroit convention, the mayor ordered him to proceed on the trip and promised that his expenses would be reimbursed by the city.

POSTPONE ACTION ON LANDING FIELD
FOR TWO WEEKS

Action on selection of Atlanta's municipal airport landing field was postponed two weeks when the special councilmanic committee failed to report to city council Monday.

Councilman C. C. Aven, chairman of the special committee, stated that while a price of $65,000 had been obtained for the Nichols property on Brown's Mill road, which is favored by the committee, the committee had not yet been able to reach an agreement on terms on which the city's half would be paid, and the next two weeks will be spent in attempting to reach some definite agreement.

Sentiment apparently is crystallizing against selection of the site, as a number of councilmen oppose expenditure of that amount of money at the present time. Mayor Sims also has expressed opposition to the site because of its reported price.

Other proposed sites include property near the county alms house on Power's Ferry road, the city dairy farm in DeKalb county, and land in the northern section of Fulton county owned by Captain James W. English.

The only disadvantage of the poor farm site is that it lacks the railroad facilities of the Nichols property, members of the committee state. However, as the land already is owned by the county, the only expense would be the cost of grading.

EMPLOY WHIDDEN
FOR COLLECTION OF TAX ON AUTOS

Atlantans who "forget" to list automobiles when making personal property returns to the tax assessors will not escape paying taxes on machines, as city council voted Monday to employ E. B. Whidden to check the tax books, and in cases in which automobile owners failed to list cars, fi fas will be issued.

Whidden is to receive 25 per cent of the amount collected through his endeavors. He is under contract for six months. However, the contract is subject to revocation by the tax committee of council at any time.

LEASE OF STREET
SWEEPER, EDUCTOR
IS GIVEN APPROVAL

The Elgin sweepers and an Elgin eductor will be leased by the city on 90-day trial, according to decision Monday, and if they are satisfactory, will be purchased for a total price of $25,397. All machines will be sent here immediately.

Under terms of the agreement, the city has the option of returning the machines at the end of the 90-day period if they prove unsatisfactory. The sweepers will be used by the sanitary department, and the eductor by the construction department.

Terms of the agreement were approved by the sanitary committee of city council last week, and the lease authorized by general council Monday afternoon.

STARTS $30,000 FIRE

Huntsville, Ala., October 20.—Starting from a match in a bale of cotton that was being ginned today, a fire destroyed the Longview gin, causing a loss of about $30,000. Thirty bales of cotton were burned.

NICHOLS COMPANY
FREED OF PENALTY
ON VIADUCT DELAY

The Nichols Construction company, contractors who built the Spruce street viaduct, were relieved from any penalty for failure to complete the project in the time specified by the contract, and their full claims on the final estimate for the work were ordered paid by action of general council Monday.

It was explained that the construction company's failure to complete the work as per schedule was due largely to unavoidable delays, as considerable labor trouble was encountered, and other unexpected difficulties found during the course of construction.

The Nichols company claims approximately $24,000 in extras and council ordered that the full claims be settled from the remaining proceeds of the $700,000 bond issue.

An appropriation of $38,822.75, the amount due on the final estimate for the work, was asked of the finance committee Monday by W. A. Hansell, chief of construction, who stated that the bond fund was exhausted. However, the matter was referred to the bond commission, as that body has apportioned all bond funds and applied the bond fund on the final items under the $8,500,000 bond issue of 1921.

RECORD IN SOUTH
SHOWN IN REPORT

A series of record-breaking disasters which taxed the industry of the American Red Cross occurred in states under jurisdiction of the southern division of the organization, according to the annual report of the division made public Monday.

These disasters, which included tornadoes, cloudbursts and storms, took a toll of 170 lives and the homes of 5,200 others, according to the reports. Several thousand persons were injured and property loss was more than $16,000,000, the report said.

The American Red Cross expended $157,717 in administration of regular rehabilitation work, it was declared. Emergency aid in the form of nurses, food, clothing, medical supplies and tents, was also given victims of the disasters.

The annual roll call of the organization will be held in November, it was revealed at the time the report was made.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB
DENIED FREE USE
CITY AUDITORIUM

Denial of application of the Atlanta Music Study club to use the city auditorium free of charge for a series of entertainments was recommended Monday by the auditorium committee of city council.

Members of the committee pointed out that the club's concert last week attracted a $3,000 house, and decided against allowing the organization to use the auditorium without paying the usual rental. The matter will be taken up at the next regular meeting of city council.

Driver Injured
As Machine Hits
Telephone Pole

B. C. Pearce, of 431 North Boulevard, was carried to Grady hospital early Tuesday morning, suffering from serious cuts about the face and probable internal injuries, after the automobile he was driving crashed into a telephone pole as he was attempting to round a curve on Marietta street, just this side of Howell Mill road, according to police reports.

Pearce about 1:15 o'clock Tuesday morning was speeding west on Marietta street when Officers Lowe and Pittman, in a police car, saw him. The officers, according to their report, set out in pursuit of the speeding machine, which they say was traveling at a rate of about 60 miles an hour. After the chase had continued for eight or ten blocks, Pearce attempted to round the curve over the railroad tracks just this side of Howell Mill road. The machine, they say, swerved into a telephone pole on the side of the road, hurling its driver into the road, unconscious, and practically demolishing the automobile.

Pearce was rushed to the hospital in the Grady ambulance for treatment. Upon his recovery, officers state, he will be charged with speeding and operating an automobile while under the influence of whisky.

paving the way for a general election is believed generally to have resulted from the failure of Chancellor Marx to carry out his plan to extend the basis of the present government by the inclusion in the cabinet of representatives of parties further to the right and to the left than those already represented.

It was Chancellor Marx' plan to include in the cabinet all factions save only the extremists of both wings. To this end he held party caucuses all of last week and it was expected these negotiations would continue until the eve of the convention of parliament, scheduled for Wednesday.

Messages from Berlin indicated that the nationalists were ready to enter the cabinet with the understanding that they would be allowed four posts. The chancellor, however, was confronted with the opposition of the democrats, which was said to be keeping alive the opposition of the chancellor's own party to a union with the Von Hertt party.

Milledgeville, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Emory Berry, 6, brother of Mary Claire Berry, 16, who was adjudged insane and committed to the state sanitarium following the death of the boy, died from the effects of poison administered by an unknown party, it was announced today in a verdict returned by a coroner's jury. HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR Makes One Look Twenty Years Younger.

Men and women who used to be called Grandpa and Grandma are now setting the styles by darkening their gray hair with a simple home mixture. For instance, J. A. McCrea, a well known Californian, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, 1/4 oz. of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply to the hair twice weekly with comb. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—(adv.)

LA FOLLETTE SEEKS BIG VOTE IN EVERY STATE

was expected to run first in his own state of Wisconsin, and the surprising recent development of the campaign is that he now seems likely to run second in such large states as Ohio and Pennsylvania. Some observers believe there is a chance of his running second also in another large state, Michigan. In so large a city as Cleveland, it is more or less conceded that he will run first; and there are other large cities in the middle west in which there will be no surprise if La Follette runs first.

The impressiveness of La Follette's showing cannot reasonably be denied. One can hardly avoid speculating on what might happen if the La Follette party were as well organized as the other two parties.

Lacks Local Candidates.

The one great lack in the La Follette organization; his handicap as compared with the other two parties, is the lack of local candidates on his ticket. From the point of view of practical election day efficiency, that is a great defect. All there is to the La Follette ticket is himself and Wheeler, just the two candidates for president and vice president. La Follette has no candidates for congressman, sheriff, county clerk, constable and that sort of thing. It is these adjuncts to the other two parties that bring out the vote. On the average there are about 31 of these candidates for local office on each of the democratic and republican tickets. It is these 31 and their close friends and well-wishers, who, on election day, actually see to it that the voters get to the polls. If La Follette had this equipment, his showing might be very impressive indeed. La Follette expects to have this kind of organization two years from now.

Coalition Inevitable Grows.

With this development of La Follette strength concentrated in a few states and cities, there arises, as the campaign grows, the increasing disposition toward cooperation between the La Follette party and the democrats in the common purpose of preventing Coolidge from being elected in November. It is so clear that such cooperation would carry some doubtful states against Coolidge, that the disposition to practice it necessarily arises. So far the only state in which I have heard of it actually being done is Washington. But there is talk of it occurring and increasing in many other states.

At the same time, there is an influence working strongly against such cooperation on a national scale, or with the formal approval of the national leaders of either party. The La Follette party is out to kill the democratic party. They do most of their talking and fighting against the republican party, largely because it is the one in power; but the La Follette leaders say their ultimate plan is to have in America two parties of which the republicans will be the conservative and the La Follette party the progressive one. The division of parties, they say, is the logical one. If they are to bring it about, that of course would mean the death of the democrats. To many this will sound pretentious but it is what the La Follette leaders have definitely in mind. Since this is so, they have no interest in cooperating to help the fortunes of a party which it is their hope to kill. For the same reason, the democrats are unlikely to cooperate in a program which includes the annihilation of their own annihilation. While local La Follette leaders and local democratic leaders in some states will cooperate because of local conditions, it is not likely to extend to the top.

Motive Is to Show Strength.

Another reason that works against cooperation which might be quite effective if practiced, is the fact that La Follette's main purpose in this campaign is to make a demonstration of popular strength. This means that his purpose is more to get the maximum number of votes throughout the whole country than to carry states by concentrating his strength or by any other device. La Follette wants to carry as many states as he readily can, but his larger purpose is to roll up a popular vote of such size as to demonstrate to the country that he has put himself and his party "on the map." It is for this reason that La Follette, in his personal campaign tour, spent days in such states as New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, which he can have no hope of carrying. If by any chance the election returns should carry out the omen of The Literary Digest polls to date, and if he should emerge from the election with a larger number of popular votes than the democrats, as he now has a larger number in The Digest polls, in this event, La Follette would regard as justified their plan and their hope to establish themselves by this campaign, not as a third party, but as a second party.

20 ARE ARRESTED IN SWEEPING DRIVE

when the dry agents sped through the streets in pursuit of suspected automobiles. Some of these chases produced arrests, while in other cases the suspected cars were permitted to go their way.

Near-tragedy was combined with comedy when a negro who had been arrested leaped from the dry agents' machine and continued his leaping by plunging from the Spring street viaduct in a successful effort to leave his captors behind. Federal Officer Pete Smith, nimble of foot and quick with a gun, made his way to the railroad tracks below the viaduct as fast as he could, caught a fleet glimpse of the fleeing negro in the darkness, fired a volley of shots at the black, but not with his companions without his former prisoner.

Door Torn Away.

City Officer Portwood bore the brunt of the raid when the officers entered a residence at 134 Ivy street by way of the rear stairway. This was one of the places where a heavy door had to be torn away before the officers could enter. Officer Portwood remained in the alley that runs from Peachtree street to Ivy street while his companions battered at the door. He was drenched with corn liquor and slightly bruised when a heavy "stew pan" was hurled from a second floor window by an occupant of the house. The main squad entered the apartment as the last vessel of liquor was being consigned to the sink.

Loose protests went up from both whites and blacks as they reached the county jail and learned that they could not gain their freedom on bail. Some insisted on their constitutional rights and were silenced only when they were told that United States Commissioner Joe Abbott had gone to his home in Marietta for the night and that his orders would be necessary before bonds could be posted.

List of Those Arrested.

Those seized in the round-up gave the following names: Robert Hemphill and Sidney Tenant, of Victoria street; Sarah Dill and Mary Merritt, of 17 Victoria street; Lula Wilson, of 16 Dunkirk street; Nancy Johnson, of 41 Bush street; John W. Whitley and Charley Tolbert, of 105 West Mitchell street; Allen Billups, of 114 Edgewood avenue; Pat Prater, H. Spinks and H. Hane, of 25 East Alexander street; Will Hickman, George Moore and Will Aaron, of 229 Auburn street; and Mary Jones, of 83 Auburn street.

Officers who participated in the raids headed by Director Dismuke were Federal Officers Adair, Whitley, Smith and Kinsey; County Officers Nelms and Morris; and City Officers Acree, Newton and Portwood.

Those arrested will be given preliminary hearings Tuesday before United States Commissioner Abbott.

GULF REFINING COMPANY

Fulton Company Launched With Very Modest Start

BY W. S. STAPLER.

Few people realize the modest beginning of the Fulton Lime & Cement company, which, during the past 10 years, has grown until it is now regarded as one of the largest and most progressive dealers in building materials in this city.

Ten years ago, John L. Womack, familiar with such products as sewer pipes, due lining and fire bricks, wanted something to sell, but experienced some difficulty in securing an account. This, though, was only one of the obstacles which stood in his way when he went to Stevens, Pottery, Georgia, where Stevens, Inc., then had their headquarters, and went over in detail with W. S. Stapler, the general manager of Stevens, his situation and the hopes which he had of building the Fulton Lime & Cement company.

At this time the Stevens company was not selling the amount of their material in the Atlanta territory that they believed their quality and location warranted, and Mr. Stapler decided that it would be advantageous to have an efficient, aggressive representative. The Fulton Lime & Cement company was given their first account and began selling the products of Stevens.

The Stevens company opened up general offices in Atlanta since that connection was formed 10 years ago, but the Fulton Lime & Cement company still sells the major portion of the Stevens clay products, which are distributed locally in its territory.

The Stevens company's growth has been phenomenal during the 10-year period, but the Fulton Lime & Cement company has shown the wisdom of Mr. Stapler's decision to appoint them to distribute their products.

The presidents of both firms congratulated themselves upon the association, 10 years ago and upon the complete cooperation which has been accorded each to the other for their mutual benefit. A close personal friendship has grown out of the business relationship between the presidents of the respective firms, and it is hoped that both may continue their progressive programs in the future, and that even greater advancement than has so far rewarded their perseverance.

SEES OPEN ALLIANCE OF G. O. P. OPPONENTS

Chicago, October 20.—Conference with "some 150 state and district leaders" during the past week, has convinced Chairman William M. Butler, of the republican national committee, of the "open alliance" between democratic and third party leaders in certain states. Mr. Butler declared in a statement today.

"The open alliance," the statement said, "is not the democratic third party leaders in certain states to throw the election into congress, and thus deprive the voters of their right to elect a president at the polls, has stiffened the determination to block this plan by voting for Calvin Coolidge."

The program of the third party for the destruction of the constitution, the virtual abolition of the supremacy of the state, and the public ownership of railroads has aroused the people to the gravity of this election.

That's why S.S.S. since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

SHOW MANAGERS DISSOLVE BODY

New York, October 20.—The Producing Managers' association, an organization of theatrical managers, voted today to dissolve, holding there is no further reason for their existence.

A resolution was passed directing the board of directors to petition the supreme court for a legal dissolution of their organization.

Until its fight with the Actors' Equity association last spring the Managers' association was an all-powerful factor in the theatrical world.

Action of the association means that the theatrical business will be without a czar. Augustus Thomas, the playwright, who was appointed to that position a year ago, has a contract which runs until August 1, 1925. It was decided to fulfill the contract, but the affairs of the association will be closed up within a month, it is believed.

8 INJURED IN WRECK OF ST. LOUIS EXPRESS

Lewistown, Pa., October 20.—At least eight persons were injured at noon today when the commercial express from St. Louis to New York on the Pennsylvania railroad was derailed at Longwood, eight miles west of here. Reports indicated no one was killed or seriously injured.

The eight injured were brought here by the eastern express, which followed the commercial. The other passengers on the commercial express, 153 in number, were transferred to the eastern express and are proceeding east.

The embankment where the derailment occurred is higher than the tracks and several of the cars that were derailed lay on their side against the embankment.

Those of the injured needing hospital attention were taken from the train here but were sent on to Harrisburg. One of these suffered a dislocated collarbone and a crushed hand.

5 CANADIAN BANDITS LOSE APPEAL, MUST DIE

Ottawa, October 20.—Losing their appeal to the supreme court of Canada today, five men who took part in the $140,000 robbery of the Bank of Hochelaga collection car last April, killing the driver, must hang for the crime. Hearing of the appeal of Leo Davis, the sixth man convicted to hang, is still in progress.

The five men who lost in their final fight to save themselves from the noose were Tony Frank, Louis Morel, Mike Valentino, Giuseppe Serafini and Frank Gambino. They applied for writs of habeas corpus on the ground that the judge before whom they were tried was without jurisdiction.

BANKERS' PRESIDENT NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Washington, October 20.—Selection of the various commissions and committees and of general officers, other than those selected by the national convention of the American Bankers' association at Chicago, were announced here today by William E. Knox, the new president of the association.

Executive officers selected were J. Elwood Cox, of High Point, N. C., treasurer; F. N. Shepherd, New York, executive manager; Thomas B. Paton, New York, general counsel, and William G. Fitzwillson, New York, secretary and assistant treasurer.

TEXTILE EXPOSITION OPENS IN GREENVILLE

Greenville, S. C., October 20.—With 192 exhibits of textile machinery valued at $500,000, the sixth Southern Textile exposition got under way here today in Textile hall, to continue through the week. Cotton mill executives from many sections were present.

Addresses of welcome were made by W. G. Sirrine, director of the exposition; Mayor R. F. Watson, of Greenville, and W. P. Conyers, representing the chamber of commerce. Machinery comprising the exhibits was started to running after the formal opening.

RUSSIAN WOMAN IN 1 YEAR HERE MAKES $5,000,000

New York, October 20.—Mrs. Fanny Menschel, former janitress, who can neither read nor write, has completed realty deals in the last year involving $5,000,000, she says.

Shortly after her arrival from Russia, 34 years ago, Mrs. Menschel married Sam Menschel, an invalid who earned $6 a week. She cared for three of his children by a first marriage, and as the years went by six more were added to the family. Compelled to earn most of the money for their support, Mrs. Menschel became a janitress and finally persuaded the landlord to allow her to collect the rents. Such was her success in dealing with the tenants that landlords of adjoining tenements on the east side commissioned her as their collector and 15 years ago her clientele grew so large that she became a realty broker.

Body of Sienkiewicz, Famed Polish Writer, En Route to Warsaw

Vevey, Switzerland, October 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist and statesman, was one of the central figures today in the series of ceremonies held in connection with the transfer of the body of Henry Sienkiewicz, the novelist, from Vevey to Warsaw. A little group of Americans was also present at the ceremonies, which included a solemn requiem mass and the unveiling of the memorial stone to the author in the celebrated Janina museum.

Among others present to honor the author of "Quo Vadis" were Sienkiewicz's son and Dr. Giuseppe Motta, former president of Switzerland, who represented the Swiss government. A distinguished group of Poles came to Vevey especially to accompany the body home to Warsaw.

The author's casket was borne to the railway station to the strains of Chopin's "Funeral March."

At the afternoon ceremonies at the museum addresses were delivered by Professor Gogonze de Reynold, of Berne university, and Jean de Mollet, ewski, Polish minister to Switzerland. Former Premier Motta also paid a tribute to the writer. He declared that Sienkiewicz had shaken the soul and not only of Poland but of all humanity. Dr. Motta recalled that Switzerland, in the museum on the shores of Lake Zurich, still guards the heart of the famous Polish patriot, although this later also will be transferred to Poland.

The body left this evening by special train via Prague, where Czechoslovakia will hold commemorative ceremonies.

BRYAN OPENS TOUR IN HIS HOME STATE

Waterloo, Ills., October 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Speaking from a platform in the little Monroe court house where his father, Silas L. Bryan once sat as judge, Governor Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for vice president, opened his native state campaign here today with a plea for support of the democratic party, "the only party that is organized today from coast to coast, capable of restoring people's rule in every state in the union." The address was his first of the campaign east of the Mississippi river.

Discussing agriculture, he said, the democratic party was made up of men who came from the agricultural states of the south and middle west, all of whom realize that the welfare and prosperity of all depends upon the success of the farmer.

Declaring his party was the father of all progressive legislation that has caused widespread prosperity throughout the nation, Governor Bryan asserted such conditions were radically changed four years ago by the introduction of the high tariff. He then challenged the republican party to name any piece of legislation that was passed during the past four years in the interest of the common people or agriculture.

Attacking the privilege-seeking classes, Governor Bryan pointed to results of the present senate committee investigating campaign contributions as indicating the beginning of another drive on the part of the republicans to conduct a fight for other four years lease of life to permit these small groups to compel the people to pay tribute to them.

N. Y. CENTRAL WRECK BLAMED ON ENGINEER

Washington, October 20.—Responsibility for the rear-end collision on the New York Central railroad near Savannah, N. Y., August 30 in which 43 persons were injured today was placed on Engineer Gibbons, of the westbound colliding train, in a report of the director of the bureau of safety to the interstate commerce commission.

The director held that Gibbons failed properly to observe and obey block signal indications, adding that an adequate automatic train control system been in use, the accident would have been prevented.

Syracuse, N. Y., October 20.—William J. Gibbons, New York Central railroad engineer upon whom responsibility was placed today by the federal bureau of safety for a rear-end collision between two fast passenger trains near Savannah, N. Y., on August 30, still is in St. Joseph's hospital here as the result of injuries received in the crash.

Gibbons was engineer on "The Detroit" which ran into the rear of the stalled "Lake Shore Limited" at an isolated spot in the Montezuma marshes. Twenty-seven persons were injured.

PATRICK DELANEY, NOTED INVENTOR, IS DEAD AT 79

South Orange, N. J., October 20.—Patrick B. Delaney, 79, inventor for many years and associate of Thomas A. Edison, died last night after ten days' illness from heart trouble.

He was the inventor of over 200 major devices, most of which were of an electrical nature. His inventions included a precious metal detector, the use of which resulted in the location and recovery of $300,000,000 in gold and silver from the sunken liner Laurentic off the coast of Ireland recently. This device also was used during the past year by a wrecking company for the recovery of $300,000 worth of copper ingots from the mud of New York bay.

Mr. Delaney was awarded gold medals for his electrical inventions at the Buffalo exposition in 1901 and at the St. Louis exposition in 1904. A major electrical invention of his is the synchronous multiplex telegraphy, which allows the transmission of six messages on one wire and which was used by the navy and diploma at the International Inventions' exhibition in London in 1885.

Funeral services will be held here Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Nantucket, Mass., on Thursday.

DAVIS STATES STAND ON JOINING LEAGUE

Washington, October 20.—Democratic headquarters here has received the following statement by John W. Davis, the party's presidential nominee, replying to a direct question whether he favors entrance of the United States into the league of nations:

"In my speech of acceptance opening the campaign, I expressed my attitude on this question with complete frankness. I said speaking in the sheerest terms of national interest, it was not wise or prudent or safe that 54 nations of the world should sit together in conference on world affairs and America be absent. I said that while this nation could not join the league of nations helpfully unless and until the common judgment of the American people support such a step, the day will come in my judgment when we should see that both interest and duty dictated that step.

"I do not believe that the league of nations is perfect. I do not believe that it has assumed its final form. I believe in life and growth and custom and habit. I am not concerned even about the terms on which we shall appear at the council table of the world. Out of that experience and out of such conference in God's good time will grow a friendly habit among men, the custom of calm and reasonable discussion and a proper yielding not to force, not to a superior, not to command but in the language of the Declaration of Independence itself: 'To a decent respect for the opinion of mankind.'"

N. Y. BANK EMPLOYEES JOIN LABOR UNION

New York, October 20.—Four New York banks have conceded the right of employees to organize in labor unions, according to a statement issued by Ernest Bohm, secretary of the Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Accountants' union.

Among them is the Federal Reserve bank.

Next President Sure To Be Either "Mr. Davis" or "Mr. Coolidge," He Says in Speech.

Chatanooga, Tenn., October 20.—Without "intention of being disrespectful," Homer Cummings, former chairman of the democratic national committee, "laid aside" the candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette for the presidency in a national democratic campaign address here tonight. He predicted that the next president of the United States would be either "Mr. Coolidge" or "Mr. Davis," "whether the election should be decided in the usual way or whether the choice is referred, under the constitution, to the house of representatives."

"Most citizens will desire to cast not only a conscience vote but an effective vote," he said.

A vote in favor of the candidacy of La Follette, Mr. Cummings stated in his prepared address, "is necessarily but a futile gesture," persuasively as his appeal may be "to many citizens dissatisfied with the course of public events and auspicious of politicians and political parties in general."

Holding that the rank and file of the republican party are not responsible for "certain happenings" in that party, Mr. Cummings charged them with responsibility if, in the light of events, they continue that leadership.

He attacked the Fordney-McCumber tariff act as a measure which "takes eight dollars out of the pockets of the American consumer every time it puts one dollar into the treasury of the government of the United States."

After discussing the record of the republican party and adding that the reelection of President Coolidge would mean "a continuation of conditions of chaos in public affairs," Mr. Cummings said that "we must not disappoint" the people "as they have been disappointed since the day when the idealism of Wilson was abandoned for the doctrine of greed."

WEEKS PLANS TO USE POWER FROM SHOALS

Washington, October 20.—With the Muscle Shoals power plants due for completion next July, Secretary Weeks indicated today in answer to inquiries that he would take steps to make temporary use of the power to be produced if congress had not by that time acted on the various offers for acquisition of the plants now before it.

Mr. Weeks said he assumed he had authority to dispose of the power temporarily, with the arrangement subject to cancellation in the event that congress accepted an offer for permanent operation of the plant.

There has been no recent development with relation to the Muscle Shoals situation in the war department, Mr. Weeks said. The whole matter of the disposition of the property as out of his hands since congress has taken it over.

The war department is merely custodian of the property and it is under this authority that Mr. Weeks would act if completion of the power plants made it advisable to put them into operation, selling the power to users to whom it would be available probably through existing power companies of the region.

No step has been taken, so far as Mr. Weeks is aware, to present in any definite way the suggestion made by President Coolidge to congress that the task of negotiating with prospective bidders for the Muscle Shoals property might be entrusted to some commission or other body.

The proposal contemplated, in Mr. Weeks' opinion, that the commission would report back to congress for approval of any project it might work out.

PARTY IS UNITED DAVIS DECLARES

Nashville, Tenn., October 20.—Insisting that he was the "first presidential candidate to start from scratch," John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, today told fellow alumni of Washington and Lee university that "all of the scars of the Madison Square Garden convention now have disappeared."

Mr. Davis addressed a gathering of the alumni at his hotel just before leaving there for Vanderbilt stadium where he was to deliver one of his two principal speeches scheduled for Nashville. The candidate was emphatic in his declaration that the democratic party now is completely united all over the United States. In this connection, he said:

"It is no exaggeration to say that the democratic party is more harmonious and united today than I ever have known it and that is confirmed all over the United States."

"I have a very genuine feeling," he continued, "that we are on the rising wave. The tide is undoubtedly coming in, in our direction. It is very comforting in a political campaign to feel that the tide rises with you instead of getting to a peak and then falling. I have seen that happen, too."

"So I am before you in a very optimistic frame of mind, rejoicing somewhat that my share of the work is nearly over. I am counting the days exactly as we used to begin to count them in April and check off every day until the middle of June, and I am checking off mine now until I finish my part of the job."

THROGS ATTEND FULTON EXHIBIT

Commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the Fulton Lime & Cement Co. and formal opening of the company's new show rooms on Edgewood avenue Monday night were marked by addresses from a number of Atlanta's most prominent citizens. The celebration was held in the spacious show rooms, which are declared to be the most beautiful in the entire south.

The occasion was scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock, but long before the starting hour arrived interested people poured into the building, which is situated at 521-31 Edgewood avenue, to view one of the most interesting displays of building materials ever arranged in this city.

The welcome address was delivered by Major Walter C. Hendrix, who was followed by Mayor Walter A. Sims. Mayor Sims gave an interesting address on "This Is The Atlanta Spirit," in which he discussed the general development of building materials in Atlanta and Fulton county and their value to the commonwealth.

Victor H. Krieger, well-known Atlanta, next spoke on "As The Building Material Business Grows, So Grows Atlanta." Mr. Krieger was followed by Bolling H. Jones, chairman of the board of the Fulton National bank, who spoke on "The Value of Owning a Home." The interesting program of addresses was concluded with a talk from B. Mifflin Hood, of the B. Mifflin Hood Brick company. Mr. Hood's subject was "Burnt Clay Products." William Candler, vice president of the chamber of commerce, presided.

Prior to the addresses the guests were conducted through the expansive display rooms in which building material of every description was arranged so that the visitor could obtain a definite idea of just how each item would appear in the finished home. In these displays, both exterior and interiors of the home were shown.

One entire room was given to the showing of different kinds of brick. In addition, there were displays of tiles, interior hardware, mantels and roofings. The Fulton company has constructed the interior of its building in a way which not only affords a perfect medium of display, but forms a beautiful and comfortable setting in which to receive its visitors.

The celebration, which will continue through today and Wednesday, with addresses and special features each night, is one that will interest everyone. Subjects of vital interest to those contemplating building homes and to everyone interested in Atlanta's building program will be covered by the best qualified authorities and speakers in their respective lines of business.

Program Indorsed.

The program undertaken by the Fulton Lime & Cement Co. has been heartily indorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta Real Estate board and the Atlanta Builders' exchange. Ample evidence that it will meet with gratifying success was given Monday night.

There are many persons in Atlanta who contemplate building homes in the near future who are in need of suggestions and constructive advice. This they can find in the show rooms of the Fulton company on Edgewood avenue and in the addresses of the various speakers who are listed on the programs for the remaining two evenings.

Every one is cordially invited, officials of the Fulton Lime & Cement company announced, and every effort to give personal attention to each individual will be made, despite the enormous attendance.

In addition to the varied displays on the interior of the new building, attention is directed to the spacious show windows facing the street. In these windows many attractive displays have been arranged, which prove of great interest.

Comptroller Semis Greetings.

An enthusiastic message from Samuel Comptroller, of the American Federation of Labor, was read, calling upon all members of the labor movement to join in the fight for the progressive party candidate.

Announcements were made that a big mass meeting will be held at an early date when a speaker of national note will address the Atlanta progressives. The date for this meeting will be announced later.

CARS ARE REROUTED FOR PAVING PROJECTS

Rerouting of street cars on three lines entering the downtown district by way of Hunter street was necessitated Monday because of repaving work being done by the city on Hunter street between Pryor and Whitehall streets, according to announcement by the Georgia Railway and Power company. The temporary route 11 will be:

Southbound—Forsyth to Alabama, to Central avenue, to Hunter and then on the regular route. Northbound cars will traverse the regular route.

Route 15 cars southbound will run on Broad, to Alabama, to Central avenue, to Hunter and on the regular route. Northbound will run on Hunter, to Pryor, to Alabama, to Broad and thence along the regular route.

Butter shipped from Denmark to Great Britain in seven months this year weighed 100,000,000 pounds.

La Follette Message Read.

Others addressing the meeting were James L. Sibley, state campaign manager, who read messages from La Follette, Wheeler and others, giving highly encouraging reports of conditions in the west. Senator La Follette in his message stated that he was turning his face eastward, confident that the west would stand by his candidacy. Mr. Sibley then made an appeal for $600, which he declared would be required to place ballots in the hands of people in counties of Georgia where no provisions have been made for the Australian ballot.

Karl Carston, of the musicians' union, and treasurer of the La Follette campaign in Georgia, stated that this progressive campaign is in splendid shape, despite a lack of funds. He vigorously attacked the candidacy of both Davis and Coolidge in his appeal for support of La Follette.

William Pollard, of the electrical workers' union, made the principal appeal for campaign funds, his address being the final one of the evening. Mr. Pollard reviewed the record of La Follette, quoting Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson in tributes to the Wisconsin senator. He declared that efforts which have been made to cast a cloud upon the record of La Follette had been defeated by senate records which he said had completely exonerated the senator's name.

PROGRESSIVES DONATE $100 FOR CAMPAIGN

The sum of $100 was donated to the La Follette campaign at the progressive rally held Monday night in the Labor Temple under the auspices of the non-partisan campaign committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. The donations were made spontaneously after an appeal by State Campaign Manager James L. Sibley, who declared that in 99 Georgia counties, where provisions have been made for the Australian ballot, there is a possibility that La Follette's followers would be deprived of an opportunity to vote. Mr. Sibley stated that $600 would be required to place the ballots in the hands of voters in these counties.

The Labor Temple auditorium was comfortably filled when President Cunningham, of the central labor body, arose to deliver the initial address. Some were present who were not members of the labor movement. Mr. Cunningham eulogized the progressive candidate, stating that he would vote for him and work for him as the best man for the people. President Cunningham recently opposed the indorsement of La Follette, or any other political candidate by the central body, on the grounds that such action is in violation of the laws of the federation.

President Cunningham recently opposed the indorsement of La Follette, or any other political candidate by the central body, on the grounds that such action is in violation of the laws of the federation.

La Follette Message Read.

Others addressing the meeting were James L. Sibley, state campaign manager, who read messages from La Follette, Wheeler and others, giving highly encouraging reports of conditions in the west. Senator La Follette in his message stated that he was turning his face eastward, confident that the west would stand by his candidacy. Mr. Sibley then made an appeal for $600, which he declared would be required to place ballots in the hands of people in counties of Georgia where no provisions have been made for the Australian ballot.

Karl Carston, of the musicians' union, and treasurer of the La Follette campaign in Georgia, stated that this progressive campaign is in splendid shape, despite a lack of funds. He vigorously attacked the candidacy of both Davis and Coolidge in his appeal for support of La Follette.

William Pollard, of the electrical workers' union, made the principal appeal for campaign funds, his address being the final one of the evening. Mr. Pollard reviewed the record of La Follette, quoting Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson in tributes to the Wisconsin senator. He declared that efforts which have been made to cast a cloud upon the record of La Follette had been defeated by senate records which he said had completely exonerated the senator's name.

PROGRESSIVES DONATE $100 FOR CAMPAIGN

The sum of $100 was donated to the La Follette campaign at the progressive rally held Monday night in the Labor Temple under the auspices of the non-partisan campaign committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. The donations were made spontaneously after an appeal by State Campaign Manager James L. Sibley, who declared that in 99 Georgia counties, where provisions have been made for the Australian ballot, there is a possibility that La Follette's followers would be deprived of an opportunity to vote. Mr. Sibley stated that $600 would be required to place the ballots in the hands of voters in these counties.

The Labor Temple auditorium was comfortably filled when President Cunningham, of the central labor body, arose to deliver the initial address. Some were present who were not members of the labor movement. Mr. Cunningham eulogized the progressive candidate, stating that he would vote for him and work for him as the best man for the people. President Cunningham recently opposed the indorsement of La Follette, or any other political candidate by the central body, on the grounds that such action is in violation of the laws of the federation.

ASK REARGUMENT IN ZONE LAW CASE

In a final attempt to establish the validity of the segregation section of Atlanta's zoning ordinance, City Attorney James L. Mayson Monday asked a reargument in the case of Mrs. Annie Mae Bowen and Luther Crittelle, negro, against the city of Atlanta.

In a decision handed down last week, the supreme court ruled that the segregation section was unconstitutional, and granted an injunction preventing the city from forcing Crittelle to move from a section which had been zoned for white residences.

Mr. Mayson based his plea on the fact that the decision failed to cover points raised by him during the argument, and contended that the case on which the decision was based was not similar to the one being tried.

If the motion for reargument is denied, that particular section of the zoning ordinance which prohibits negroes from residing in certain sections will be invalid.

In the case in question, Mrs. Bowen rented property at 42 Chickamauga avenue to Crittelle, who later was ordered to move by the city building inspector. Crittelle sought an injunction to restrain city authorities from forcing him to move, but the petition was denied in Fulton superior court. However that ruling was reversed by the supreme court in the decision rendered last week. Several similar test cases are now pending in the courts.

Despite the adverse court decision, city council Monday passed several amendments to the zoning ordinance which restricts negroes in certain sections, including a block on Simpson street near Tyler street. The change was approved by the city planning commission, but adversely by the ordinance committee. It was passed by council on a second reading.

Receives Letters.

ATLANTA WOMEN IN BIRMINGHAM TOURNEY TODAY

Tech Officials Discredit "Long Quarter" Rumor

Timer Was Correct, Says Alex; Many Reasons Advanced for Delay

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN.

One of the most important officials connected with a football game, it appeared yesterday, is the man who holds the official chronometer and notifies the players and anxious throngs when they have enough, and when it is time for them to go home or else eat a cold supper in addition to rendering an explanation to the Mrs.

Rumors were current around the city yesterday that the fourth period of the Tech-Penn State game was about eight minutes longer than it should have been. They started yesterday morning when a well-known Atlanta business man phoned the sporting department to ask why the last quarter was so long.

"I was notified," he said, "that only two or three minutes of play remained and it seemed like ten minutes more."

You know how rumors are—they gain headway and then spread more than wildfire. By night they even went so far as to say that the timekeeper had admitted that his watch stopped and the game ran several minutes overtime before he knew it.

Now, to be perfectly frank, the last period did seem like ages to fellows in the press box. So we set out to check up on the rumor.

W. A. Alexander, head coach at Tech, was called. Tech was getting the worst end of the deal in the last quarter and he should know if anybody does.

Alex Checked Up.

"I sat on the sidelines with a watch and checked the time to within 15 seconds," said the coach, "and it did not run over. There is nothing to the rumors."

Alex expressed himself as being entirely satisfied with the work of Bob Williams (University of Virginia), the official timekeeper in Saturday's game.

L. W. "Chip" Robert, trustee and alumni director of athletics at Tech, said that Williams had rendered service here before, serving in various official capacities, and his work has always been conscientious and satisfactory. He denied the rumors of the period in question being too long.

There are a number of reasons why the fourth quarter seemed like centuries to people in the stands, especially those pulling for Tech. In the first place, the Nitany Lions were outplaying Tech toward the end of the game, and it was beginning to look like the Jackets would lose if there was very much time left. You see, when people are anxiously awaiting the end, it seems that it will never come.

A Long Quarter.

And then, too, there were two-minute rest periods allowed each of the teams twice each, which prolonged the agony by exactly eight minutes and naturally made the period appear longer. A large number of substitutions was made during that period. Two touchdowns were scored and several forward passes fell to the ground, both of which necessitated calling the watch to a complete stop for a few seconds.

All the above, which can be verified by glancing at the records, show reasons for a good deal of time taken out; enough, in fact, to make the last quarter seem longer than a convention of the Old Maid's society to a cub reporter covering the meeting.

Inasmuch as none of the rumors of the timekeeper's error can be verified, and since such men of affairs at Tech as Coach Alexander and "Chip" Robert emphatically discredit the reports, together with the reasons set forth for prolonging the quarter, there can be no doubt in impartial minds as to the accuracy of the official in question.

No scrimmage was held at Grant field yesterday afternoon. Coach Alexander giving his warriors plenty of time to recuperate from the strenuous grind they went through Saturday.

Scrimmage Today.

The second varsity is scheduled to battle the freshmen this afternoon, however, against Alabama formations, and the dogs of war, the first-string men, will get in for a little of the rough work Wednesday, provided proceedings run according to advance plans.

Captain George Gardner was not out for practice yesterday. His shoulder is giving him no little trouble. He will no doubt be back in harness in a day or so.

Gus Merkle, who was injured in the game Saturday, is still in the hospital and latest reports say he will be out at least three weeks. His place at end will probably be filled by Johnny Marshall, 180-pound candidate who has been showing exceptionally well lately. He is very fast and exceedingly proficient at snagging forward passes from the air.

The working program yesterday of the men who save service in the game consisted of a couple of laps around the field, a brief signal drill and then a run-down.

Today they get down to harder work in order to be in the best of shape when the Crimson Tide overflows the shores at Grant field Saturday.

TIGERS HAVE FIVE BIG GAMES

Auburn, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—Coach John E. Pitts and his 29 gridmen settled down Monday afternoon on a grid of preparation for the future games on the 1924 schedule that is probably unequalled in past football history on the Plains.

Five major games appear consecutively on the Tiger calendar. Louisiana State university, Vanderbilt, Tulane, University of Georgia and Georgia Tech are five renowned names of our leading universities whose football teams must be reckoned with in the scramble for southern championship honors.

That the Georgia Bulldog is fortified with the old-time power and drive was proven beyond a doubt in the clash with the Eli eleven a week ago. The Georgians came through with a rather easy win over Furman last Saturday.

Georgia Tech for three Saturdays, hand running, has stood the gaff of heavy fire from three worthy opponents in the personages of V. M. I., Florida and Penn State.

Louisiana State university, after barely nosing out a 7 to 6 victory over Springhill, pulled out of Indianapolis crowned with a 20 to 14 victory over the strong University of Indiana team, which is a member of the Big Ten. The strength of Donahue's machine was again exhibited when he took in tow the Heisman eleven from Rice Institute out in Texas where he won a 12 to 0 count over the Lone Star outfit.

Then comes up for consideration the Tulane Greenies and the Vanderbilt Commodores, who grappled in a great game in New Orleans last Saturday. Tulane whom the Tigers have beaten twice and tied once within the past three years stepped up and toppled the dope can by administering a 21 to 14 beating to the 1925 southern champs who have been regarded by many as one of the strongest contenders for the same honors this year.

From the information at hand Tulane must be rated as one of the best in the southland. While Vanderbilt has been beaten by a southern conference team she must still be regarded as one of Dixie's best and with such men as Bomar, Wakefield, Gil Reese, Kelly and the other members of the squad, most of whom were members of their championship team of last season, it is still probable that the Tennesseans will be hard to stop.

SCOUTS FAILED TO SOLVE ILLINOIS

Chicago, October 20.—The old custom of "scouting" the football game of future opponents, now developed into a recognized system among Big Ten Conference coaches, received a staggering blow in the Michigan-Illinois upset last Saturday. It was known generally that Coach "Hurricane" Yost, of Michigan, was a spectator at the previous Illinois games against Nebraska and Butler, to study the Illinois style of play and formations. To win the Nebraska game, Coach Zuppke, of Illinois, was forced to disclose enough of his running pass system, so that Yost could become familiar with the part "Red" Grange took.

Not so many years ago, visiting scouts, composed chiefly of assistant coaches or enthusiastic alumni, quietly bought tickets for sideline seats and depended on memory to secure diagrams of opponents' plays.

Now the press box is full of "Buffalo Bills," with huge drawing boards spread out on tables designed for working newspapermen and telegraphers. In the Western Conference, at least, each coach, on request and often without, sent two press tickets to each other coach with whom future games are scheduled. By Monday night, the freshmen and scrubs are using so-called "opponent" plays for the varsity to solve.

Despite these painstaking details, Michigan was unable to "solve Grange." Study of Illinois' formations proved of no help in stopping the red-haired comet when he scooped up the first kick-off and ran 80 yards to a touchdown. He was equally elusive in his three other long runs for touchdowns from formations.

BAN JOHNSON GOES TO WORK

Chicago, October 20.—President Ban Johnson, of the American league, returning today from a two weeks' sojourn at Excelsior Springs, Mo., declared he was going "to take my coat off and get down to work," referring to the New York baseball scandal.

"I have received a lot of letters and personal communications on this subject," President Johnson said. "It took a long time to get at the bottom of the White Sox scandal, you may remember."

He made no further reference to the Dolan-O'Connell scandal case, which was taken to indicate he previously had said everything about it that he cared to say.

LOCUST GROVE BEATS GORDON INSTITUTE

Locust Grove, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—In a hotly-contested game Saturday, Locust Grove institute defeated the strong Gordon institute team 28 to 0. Gordon was unable to get nearer than 30 yards to the winner's goal. Smith, right halfback, was the best ground gainer for L. G. I.

Locust Grove, U. R. Brooks, of Columbia, chairman of the southern zone, composed of the 14 southern states, is here to attend the first annual shoot of the Southern Indians. There are others prominent in the trapshooting work here and many more will come in today.

Due to a late start Monday morning the election of officers and organization of the Southern Indians was postponed until this morning just before the second day of the tournament gets under way.

The program follows: Tuesday, five-tribe race, 200 singles from the 16-yard rise, winner to receive $400 with added money and trophy. Fifteen pairs of doubles with cash prize of $30 and trophy.

Wednesday, preliminary handicap, 100 targets, 16 to 25-yard rise, winner to receive more than $400 in cash prizes and trophies. Great Indian handicap of 100 single targets, 16 to 25-yard rise, and 20 pairs of doubles, winner to receive more than $500 in money and trophies.

BY MRS. CLARENCE BRADLEY.

Birmingham, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—The Woman's Invitation Golf tournament at Birmingham will get under way over the Roebuck country golf club at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. There are 62 entries with five states represented and seven, more entries are expected from out-of-the-city this morning.

Atlanta is leading with nine entries and will increase the number this afternoon. Mrs. David Gault, former southern champion and former western champion, will be one of the strongest contenders in the field. Mrs. H. S. Geisner, three times Birmingham's city champion, will be the strongest contender Birmingham will furnish. Mrs. Geisner hung up a new course record at the Roebuck Country club for women Sunday. Mrs. Geisner turned in a card for an 82, two strokes under the woman's par, which is 84. Mrs. C. Bradley, from Atlanta, shot the course in women's par Saturday.

The course is very fast owing to the long-continued dry weather, and the pitch to the greens is very difficult to hold.

Many Atlanta Entries.

The Atlanta entries that will tee off this morning are Mrs. T. T. Williams, Mrs. Charles V. Cornell, Mrs. Mae O'Brien, Mrs. L. H. Beck, Mrs. J. E. Jague, Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Mrs. Eleanor McAllister, Mrs. Lois Pattillo Neer and Miss Jimmie Pattillo. The entire Atlanta delegation has a fine chance to get in the first flight and should make a strong bid for the run. Handsome trophies will be awarded the winners and runner-up of as many flights as fill. There will be 16 in each flight in addition to the trophies for the flights, trophies for the winners of the two-ball mixed Scotch foursome low net and low gross approaching, putting and long distance driving and a consolation medal round are offered.

Atlanta is the first city in the south to hold a woman's invitation golf tournament, and the invitation tourney has created more interest and enthusiasm among the women golfers of the south than the women's southern championship, and brings together the best women golfers in the south.

The Pairings.

The pairings for today are: Mrs. Gault and Mrs. Geisner, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Leibold, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Kilby, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Chatch, Miss Odine and Mrs. Devstoe, Miss Pattillo and Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Jague and Mrs. Thames, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Deharden, Miss Earle and Mrs. E. L. Brown, Mrs. Sticker and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Cornell and Mrs. Shumate, Mrs. Neer and Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. S. Zev Coming Back to Front As Epinard Retires to Farm

New York, October 20.—They come and they go and sometimes they come back again.

Zev was the 3-year-old champion of the American turf in 1923 and Epinard was the fleetest and gamest horse-critter of corresponding years on the grassy run-arounds of continental Europe.

As a 4-year-old, Zev began badly and became worse. Epinard lost a couple of match races under a heavy handicap to start his four-year-old season in France and has been beaten four times in four starts during his visit to the United States.

And now Epinard will soon be shipped back home in disrepair and disrepute with a cracked hoof, never to run again.

Zev's trainer, Sam Hildreth, wouldn't believe that the great colt of 1923 could have lost all his speed and talent in a year and therefore kept Zev at work. Now, as Epinard prepares to depart, dragging his tail, Zev seems to be coming back with a rush. Zev has won his last four races.

Zev Broke Record.

The day that Epinard was whipped in the mile-and-a-quarter race at Latonia, Zev broke the track record for a mile on the same course, winning the fourth race. His time, 1:36 2-5, was just one second slower than the world record. Hildreth sent Zev into cheap races, with the idea of "running the legs back under him" through practice.

Zev will be under a saddle again at Empire City, just outside of New York City, in a few days.

Many Apologies.

Epinard's apologies outnumber those that China has made to Japan. He was "short" of competition in his first American race, a six-furlong sprint, in which he finished second to Wise Counsellor, at Belmont Park. Anyway, he wasn't a sprinter. When he lost the next run, a mile hike, to Ladkin, at Aqueduct track, he was the victim of a "bad ride." It was the same when he finished a length back of Saracen in the mile-and-a-quarter at Latonia. And, anyway, he was "one horse against the field" in each case.

Pierre Wertheimer, the French sportsman who owns Epinard, is reported to have rejected an offer of more than $250,000 for his horse, notwithstanding the cracked hoof. Back home, Epinard will be retired to the farm for breeding purposes.

of York; the Duchess of York, and Prince Henry.

London is at least partially, if not all, agog over the question of what John J. McGraw will wear. John dresses in civilian get-up at ball games and in order to be considered quite proper he will have to wear a gray plug hat, fawn anklets, lemon-colored gloves, a tail coat and a walking stick. There is strong local sentiment against the proposal to place such a dangerous weapon as a walking stick in the hands of any gentleman by the name of McGraw.

WAGE INCREASE GIVEN TAMPA CIGAR WORKERS

Tampa, Fla., October 20.—The cigar workers' strike of four weeks' duration ended today with the announcement of a compromise between the manufacturers and workers which assured an increase of wages and an adjustment of other working conditions. Details were withheld until settlement of grievances at one factory. The 12,000 workmen are expected to return to their places tomorrow.

FLOWERS AND HAWKINS READY FOR GONG TONIGHT

Thirty-Six Rounds Boxing On Veterans' Program; Flowers Is After Kayo

Cleve Hawkins, a fast heavyweight, built much along the same lines as George Robinson, will meet Tiger Flowers at the city auditorium tonight in the 10-round main event of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War first prize fight venture here. Thirty-six rounds of boxing is scheduled for the festive program and the principals in the opening bout will enter the ring promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Eddie Hanlon, who has pleased the fans by his efficient work in past fights here, will be the third man in the ring in the main event. Bill Bailey, former Atlanta heavyweight, will referee the preliminary matches. Both Flowers and Hawkins finished their training for the fight in public workouts at the Business Men's Athletic club yesterday afternoon. A large crowd witnessed the two boys in action and left very much impressed with the manner in which Hawkins handled himself. There can be no doubt about his being in shape for the fight and that fact carries out the reputation of always preparing carefully for any ring engagement that he may undertake.

Flowers in his training stunts looked about as usual and that is sufficient.

The semi-windup between Battling Morris Barnett and Trooper Clayton, of Asheville, N. C., promises to rival the main event for thrilling action. Barnett appears to be in the best shape that he ever attained for an Atlanta fight and is bubbling over with ambition, as he has been promised several fights in the east and is to fight Benny Valgar at the Commodore's Athletic club in New York next month. It will take all of Barnett's skill and cunning to get him safely through the fight with Clayton, as the latter won 22 of his last 26 fights by knockouts.

Hawkins comes to Atlanta touted as one of the few heavyweights who can make it a good match for Flowers. For one thing, Flowers has never been knocked out, although he has fought more than 150 times. Jack Tennant in two fights failed to kayo Hawkins and the same was true of Robinson, who had five chances at the Canadian.

Hawkins has fought such men as

Bulldogs Seek To Avenge Vandy's Victory Last Year

Athens, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Ancient and honorable rivals meet next Saturday in Nashville, when the Vanderbilt Commodores settle a yearly grid engagement with the Georgia Bulldogs.

This game stands at the peak as one of the outstanding battles on Saturday's card. Eliminating Furman decidedly last Saturday, the Bulldogs returned to Athens Sunday, and Monday afternoon began preparation for the game. Coach Woodruff is sure to work the Georgians hard for this game, with plenty of scrimmage as the likely program Tuesday and Wednesday. No serious injuries resulted from the Furman game, and the squad will be in very good condition, having been received from practices. The Commodore will be fit for Saturday's game, the injury to his elbow in the Yale game keeping him out all last week.

Day Still Out.
"Rose" Day is not likely to be back on duty at the pivot position. He was also injured at New Haven. Milton Day and Walter Forbes played Saturday in the absence of Rose and Day, and performed well. Captain John Fletcher is not a proven quantity for the Vandy game. His return to the lineup is doubtful, his knee still causing trouble. Monday afternoon Coach Woodruff sent the team used last Saturday through a long signal drill, while another team of varsity candidates mixed things with Captain Bachman's yearlings.

Out for Revenge.
Last year the Commodores gave the Red and Black a severe drubbing and the Bulldogs are of the opinion that Saturday will be a good day to avenge that defeat. Tulane surprised the south last Saturday by giving Vandy a long, in all the years of grid competition between the two institutions, which have been almost a complete success as viewed from the Commodore angle. Messrs. "G" Reese, Lynn Bomar, Wakefield and company will have to do mighty well to stop this year's team of Georgia Bulldogs.

The Georgia squad will leave Athens some time Thursday, arriving in Nashville in time for a workout there Friday afternoon.

PHILIPPINE FIGHTER BEATS BENNY BASS

Milwaukee, October 20.—Pete Sarmiento, of the Philippines, shaded Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, tonight in a ten-round bout in the opinion of the majority of newspapermen at the ringside. One called it a draw.

Sarmiento did virtually all the leading up to the last round, when they stood toe to toe and exchanged punches.

BILL M'GOWAN WINS FROM CLEMENS

Knoxville, Tenn., October 20.—(Special.)—Bill McGowan, Atlanta light-heavyweight fighter, won a newspaper decision over Bill Clemens, Knoxville boxer, here tonight, in a slow, listless bout.

McGowan won five out of the eight rounds, while the other three rounds were accorded a draw. Neither fighter could produce a knockout punch and though each landed a number of hard blows, neither was sent to the floor at any stage of the bout.

McGowan displayed a dazzling right hand, short jab which kept Clemens at bay for the majority of the fighting. Clemens, famous for a terrific right kick which he has demonstrated here on several occasions, was unable to get it into action at any time.

He was on the defense most of the time and failed to show any real power behind his punches. McGowan led the fight throughout, and won the second time that he has gained a newspaper verdict over the local pugilist. The other match was held here several months ago.

MILLER MOVES GYMNASIUM

BY M. D. GLEASON.
Walk Miller has moved his gymnasium from Peachtree street to 38 1-2 Decatur street, where he has leased a large loft that is much more suitable for an athletic club and gymnasium.

In the new quarters Mr. Miller states he has one of the largest centers for all purposes and will fit up one section for a basketball court.

His idea is to enroll all the live young men in the city who wish to take an active hand in both indoor and outdoor athletics, giving them a membership in the club with all privileges for a small fee.

The basketball team will be composed of members of the club and they will play all comers, taking on as many games as they can get each week.

Amateur boxing bouts will be staged once a week between young men who are members of the club and the best of the college or outside boys who wish to test their skill between boys of their own weight.

The opportunity will also be presented Atlanta business men to get the advantage of improving their physical condition with the advice and assistance of competent physical culture experts.

Fred Havighorst, well known physical director, will be in charge during Mr. Miller's absence from the city and as he has had many years of experience in this line, the members will get what individual attention they require.

Miller is extending an invitation for all those interested to see him at his new location.

ZBYSKO BEATS HENRY STEINBACH

Philadelphia, October 20.—Wladek Zbyszko, of Poland, tonight defeated Henry Steinbach, in the feature match of the international elimination wrestling tournament to decide the most likely challenger for the world title held by Ed "Strangler" Lewis.

Zbyszko threw his opponent with a headlock in 23 minutes, 12 seconds.

BY PORTER HARVEY.
Two top-sidel games marked the second Monday of this season's football at Emory university. The freshmen class, hitherto an unknown factor in the race for the school championship, has definitely established itself as a very dangerous contender by decisively defeating the theology team in the first quarter. The outcome of the game in which they clashed would be hard to predict. The other game, between the sophomores and theology, showed the sophomores as the better team, but the outcome of the game in which they clashed would be hard to predict.

The freshmen team, which includes a number of all-star prep stars in its lineup, were easily masters of the situation from the opening whistle. In the first quarter Slater, the tiny 130-pound freshman center, blocked a punt and Collingsworth covered it behind Theology's goal for a touchdown. A few minutes later Stockman got loose around left end and ran about 20 yards for another.

Sends in Subs.
At the beginning of the second half Coach Huntley took out the entire freshman line-up and ran in the substitutes. Playing straight football with a few forward passes, the Preachers stalked down the field for their only touchdown. Captain Duncan carrying it across. In the last quarter the new boys put their regulars back in and backed it to Theology's goal. Longford scoring. Fickling dropped-kicked this extra point, the only one made during the game.

Langford, captain of Boys' high team of last year, "an end by choice," fullback by necessity, and a line-plunger by nature, "according to his coach," was leading ground-gainer for the team.

Slater, Stockman and Hamilton broke up nearly every kick the Preachers tried, besides a number of other plays, while Chambers piloted the team like a veteran. Knight, subbing for Slater, showed a good football head. For the losers, Duncan, Hoffmeyer and Howell did the best work.

GENE TUNNEY MUST FIGHT VICTOR

Hot Springs, Ark., October 20.—Gene Tunney, light-heavyweight champion of America, announced today that he had been advised by his manager, Billy Gibson, in New York, that the New York boxing commission in deciding to give Paul Bersey a first chance in a battle for the world's championship with Mike McTigue, light-heavyweight titleholder, had suggested that the winner meet Tunney in a fight for the title within 60 days.

Each were to sign an agreement to this effect. Tunney was informed, and to post a forfeit of $10,000 to make it binding. Tunney was to post a like amount.

This information was given Tunney in a long, confidential conversation with Gibson, who, according to Gibson, stated that the boxing commission intended to sanction the McTigue-Bersey bout only on condition that Tunney was agreeable.

Tunney had contended for a match with McTigue.

"That agreement is perfectly satisfactory to me," said Tunney, "and I am perfectly willing that the McTigue-Bersey bout go on. The boxing commission has protected me as challenger in every way, and now that I have learned from Gibson the details of the entire arrangements, I am with my approval."

Tunney is in Hot Springs training for a bout with Sandy Seifert, of Pittsburgh, in Memphis, October 27.

YOUNG MOORE, ADAIR ARE TECH MASCOTS

James Moore, III, and young Forrest Adair were named Georgia Tech's football mascots at a meeting of football players and students just before the night shirt parade Saturday night. Those two lads were carried in the parade on the shoulders of football players through the downtown streets, moving picture houses, theaters and other places of amusement during the celebration of the victory of the Penn State game.

James Stanley Moore, III, is the son of the late Captain James S. Moore, Jr., and Mrs. Julia Edmonds Moore. His father, who lost his life in France during the war, was Georgia Tech's first grandson. He was the first son of an alumnus to matriculate at the institution.

Forrest Adair is the son of the late George Adair, and one of Georgia Tech's staunchest football supporters. He did much toward the building up of athletics at Tech when the school was a very small institution and his services have been invaluable.

The two lads who have been acting as mascots all season presented the Tech team Saturday afternoon just before the game with a huge cake, frosted in Georgia Tech colors, and bearing on top a representation of a gridiron with miniature goal posts and a football resting in the center.

Cabbages were so plentiful in England this year that they sold for a penny apiece.

LOCAL PREPS LOSE FIVE GAMES

BY GORDON KEITH.

Atlanta's prep football teams are putting in a week of hard work in preparation for stiff battles this week-end. University school brings the Columbus High team here Friday, Marietta the Norcross High eleven, and Decatur the Gainesville High team.

The clean slate of the local clubs before Friday is a matter of history, five Atlanta teams losing last week. G. M. A. and Marietta have yet to drop a game to a prep or high school team, the College Park team turning back Rome High by a 12-0 score and Marietta defeating Marietta, 15-2. Tech High, University, Boys' High, Decatur and Commercial all fell before stiff opposition Friday and Saturday.

Tech High was defeated in her first northern invasion by a forward pass attack. Coach Phillips' Bluebirds lost a great fight to the Monroe eleven by a field goal. Boys' High dropped its annual battle with the Lanier High eleven in Macon by virtue of another screened aerial attack. Decatur was enowled under by the Athens High eleven, and Commercial lost to Griffin 25-0.

Barron Surprised Bluebirds.
Coach Barron's Monroe eleven pulled the surprise of the week by handling the Bluebirds their first defeat in two years. University is working hard for the Columbus game Friday, Coach Phillips driving his squad to the limit. Columbus has a good team this fall, and a great battle is expected at Spiller field.

Boys' High played a great game against the veteran Lanier team, and if the Macon eleven had not been quite so adept at a spread formation, the game would have ended in another of those scoreless ties. The feature of the game from the local team's standpoint was the discovery of real backfield ability in Pete Ford, a new man out for the team. Ford was a good first baseman last spring, but this is his first year out for football. He is a real find.

The team will miss the services of Coach Winkler, who is laid up with appendicitis, but Dr. Sage is working with the team and the hurricane will be ready for Rome Friday.

Tech Hi Home.
The Tech High team is back home and working hard for its battle with Enslay Saturday.

The Smithies played a wonderful game against Steele, and deserves every bit of the welcome which the team received on reaching Atlanta. Thompson, for his usual spectacular game, and gave the northern line plenty to worry about. Coach is working on pass defense, but this week, and the Tech High secondary defense will be in better shape for watching aerial advances.

Decatur received a surprise in the loss to the local team good. Coach Ramsey is busy patching up tough spots and getting his stars back in condition for Gainesville.

Notre Dame's Masterly T Game Was Feature--Camp; Penn Won With Kick

BY WALTER CAMP.
(Copyright, 1924. Special Leased Wire.)

New York, October 20.—Speed and more speed, perfectly concerted action of eleven men plus the cleverest use of ends on interference, spells the story of Knute Rockne's victory with his Notre Dame team over McEwan's Army aggregation.

It was masterly football, that Notre Dame game, and if all the football backs in the country could have been present they would have learned the lesson of what speed really means in a runner's start.

Blocked kicks—much too frequent this season in the big games—won and lost the Princeton-Navy game. Penn had a similar struggle with the strong Carnegie team. Amherst smashed Wesleyan. Minnesota and Wisconsin went to a 7-7 tie. The Nebraskaans proved altogether too strong for Colgate, and did Chicago for Indiana.

The Georgia Tech victory over Penn State was remarkable in that it was the alertness of Alexander's men that brought him a victory, for they gained but a single first down to a dozen for Beekley's men, but the game went to Tech, 15-13. Baylor beat Arkansas 13-0.

Penn's Kick Won.
Penn won what seemed likely to be a tie with Columbia by a placement goal in the second period. Penn had a similar struggle with the strong Carnegie team. Amherst smashed Wesleyan. Minnesota and Wisconsin went to a 7-7 tie. The Nebraskaans proved altogether too strong for Colgate, and did Chicago for Indiana.

Chicago, October 20.—Tim O'Dowd, of Atlanta, tonight won the newspaper decision in a 12-round bout with Jackie Dugan, of Louisville, Ky. Both are bantamweights.

SMALLER ROADS HEAR NICKEL PLATE TERMS

New York, October 20.—The leases, under which the Van Sweringen interests, of Cleveland, intend to acquire control of the Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley, Erie and Pere Marquette railroads for unified operation under their enlarged "Nickel Plate" system, have been submitted to the executives of the roads involved for preliminary consideration.

Provisions of the lease, it is understood, provide for member roads' fixed charges but do not guarantee dividends to minority stockholders who refuse to deposit their holdings under the merger plan.

Had it not been for one play, repeated time and time again by Dartmouth, Yale might have come through against the Green. But that double pass criss-cross behind the dashing Hall as the final recipient of the ball, was an unsolved enigma and added yards and yards of territory to Dartmouth's gains. Yale's stand when Hawley's men had the ball inside the two-yard line with four downs to make the touchdown was the thrilling feature of the contest.

Grange Unstoppable.
If anyone doubted the selection of Red Grange on the All-American last year, he should have journeyed to Urbana last Saturday and watched that youth pile up five touchdowns against Yale's Michigan men in spite of the fact that for a whole year the Ann Arbor team has had but one watchword—"Stop Grange."

Syracuse and Harvard had the experience out of Boston college and Holy Cross, but came through with small victories. Washington and Jefferson had a similar struggle with the strong Carnegie team. Amherst smashed Wesleyan. Minnesota and Wisconsin went to a 7-7 tie. The Nebraskaans proved altogether too strong for Colgate, and did Chicago for Indiana.

The Georgia Tech victory over Penn State was remarkable in that it was the alertness of Alexander's men that brought him a victory, for they gained but a single first down to a dozen for Beekley's men, but the game went to Tech, 15-13. Baylor beat Arkansas 13-0.

JOHNSON WINS ANOTHER GAME

Coffeyville, Kas., October 20.—The hero of many demonstrations, Walter Johnson, received today from his home town probably the greatest tribute ever accorded him in his long career as an idol of baseball.

And Johnson returned his thanks for the day of hero worship by presenting to Coffeyville a ball game.

Before a crowd of 10,000 persons he pitched the Coffeyville Refiners to victory over the Caney, Kansas Blues. Eleven of the invaders were mowed down by way of the "smokeball route" and then in the ninth inning Johnson cracked out a sacrifice hit that paved the way for the winning run.

New York, October 20.—The recovery in stock prices, which began last Friday, was halted today by the heavy selling of the steel shares and a few specialties, net losses in the active industrial issues ranging from small fractions to 2-1/2 points. Independent strength was shown, however, by a number of railroad shares, particularly those in which favorable merger or dividend developments are pending.

Bethlehem Steel was hammered down three points to 40 1/2, the lowest price since 1921, in speculative anticipation that the quarterly earnings statement, due Thursday, will show earnings insufficient to cover preferred dividends for that period. The stock rallied later to 41 1/4. Crucible, Gulf States and Republic Steel yielded in sympathy, losing 1 to 1-1/2 points.

U. S. Steel common, which had been buying support, rallying from a low of 105 7/8 to 107, where it was off only one-eighth on the day.

A sharp burst of 1-1/2 points to 106 1/2 in U. S. Steel Iron Pipe followed the publication of a court decision prohibiting the company from paying any dividends on its common stock until back dividends totalling $721,370 on its 7 per cent preferred had been liquidated. The stock recovered four points of its loss in the final hour. The preferred, which will benefit by the court decision, closed nearly three points higher at 101 7/8.

One of the features of the railroad group was the heavy accumulation of Frisco common, which advanced three points to 34 3/4 on reports of high current earnings, coupled with expectations that dividends will be inaugurated. "Nickel Plate" preferred and Pittsburgh and West Virginia each moved up about two points while gains of one to three points were recorded by Central, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, Gulf, Mobile and Northern preferred, Peoria and Eastern, the Pere Marquette preferred issue, Rutland preferred, and Seaboard Air Line common and preferred.

American Can and Baldwin were under selling pressure throughout most of the session, the former closing 1-5/8 lower at 128 7/8 and the latter showing a net loss of nearly two points at 116 1/2. Other weak spots were General Electric, Woolworth, Kresge Department Stores, Willamette, Kresge, Colorado Fuel, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, Mack Truck, and International Business Machines, off about 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 points.

Corn products, the American Water Works preferred issue, Brown Shoe, Federal Light and Traction, Schulte Stores, Savage Arms, Union Tank Car and Remington Typewriter were in good demand at rising prices. The closing of the general market on call money to 2 per cent, which rate was maintained all day, had only a temporary stimulating effect on the market.

Foreign exchange rates held relatively steady, despite the large volume of gold and cotton bills which appeared on the local market. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.18 3/4 and French francs ruled around 5.22 cents.

Danish exchange was dropping, with about ten points to around 17.16 cents.

The Investor
BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

Success of Recent French Railway Borrowing and the German Loan Augur Well for Coming Flotation of French Government Bonds—Country is Prospering.

American investors quite probably will be given the opportunity of participating in a new French loan some time before the end of the year, and the state of French credit naturally is being interestingly discussed at this time. Probably no better indication of the faith Americans have in the French nation could have been given than the quick sale in recent weeks of all bonds carrying with them the guarantee of the French government.

Something like $50,000,000 of French railroad bonds have been sold here this fall on an investment basis ranging from 7 1/2 to 7.60 per cent. That amount was divided into three issues, all of which were oversubscribed—namely, the Paris-Orleans-Mediterranean, the Paris-Orleans, and the Nord railway. These bonds were largely bought on the strength of the French government's guarantee. Bankers argue that if a French railroad bond with a government guarantee can be sold on a 7 1/2 per cent basis, a direct obligation of the government should attract investors on a much lower basis.

France is a proved credit in the markets of the world. Further assurance of the soundness of the country is to be found in her amazing new prosperity, which is reflected in record-breaking exports, which are higher than any of the pre-war years. The rehabilitation of Germany through the Dawes plan and the international loan is a "bull" argument on France, which is Germany's largest creditor.

The facts and figures contained in a recent report on business conditions in France have surprised the world. In the first eight months of the year French exports have expanded to 27,263,159,000 francs, an increase of 42 per cent over 1923. Some alarm already has been expressed in Britain over the capture of foreign markets by the French.

France's best customer, Great Britain, has had French goods now being sold throughout the British Isles in sharp competition with American products. French automobiles and French typewriters are being sold in every town in England. It is estimated that French exports to Britain are three times as great as they were before the war.

France is now third in shipping, with 2,065 ships of her own. In shipbuilding she is competing with British yards. Cotton goods made in France are much larger in quantity than the other goods which are sold recently a deputation of forty Lancashire manufacturers went to London to ask for government assistance.

The steel industry in France is going ahead by leaps and bounds. The output of steel from French factories last year was 5,109,000 tons. In the manufacture of coke France has beaten all pre-war records. In the last twelve months she has made 5,000,000 tons, which is about as much as the consumers can use.

The French are showing business enterprise which is well up to American standards. Two new French department stores selling French goods only have been opened in Regent street, London, and they are doing a good business.

Has No Unemployment. There is no sign of depression in France, and there is no unemployment in the country. France has a population of 40,000,000 and 1,000,000 more workers than the United States. The country has produced 1,500,000 men in the war has been counterbalanced to a certain extent by the entry of 2,500,000 immigrants. Fully 45 per cent of the population in Paris today are foreigners.

The devastated regions of France have been largely restored, and there are only sixteen villages which have not been rebuilt. More than 80 per cent of the factories have been rebuilt, and many of the buildings are much larger and equipped with the latest machinery. France has more looms than she had in 1914. More than 900,000 men are engaged in the textile industry, and there is a dearth of labor.

High Lights in the Cotton Market
BY THEO. H. PRICE,
Editor Commerce and Finance

The cotton market was a comparatively quiet affair last week. Speculative activity was restrained by the political uncertainty and the fear that the next government report may cause another cyclonic disturbance. This fear is not entirely unwarranted, for the crop-reporting board has announced another change in its cryptic "pays" and as the weather has been fine it is probable that the buying side on dips will prove the best in the long run.

Guiding the Bond Buyer
FOREIGN GOVERNMENT BONDS
Article VII

The foreign government bond was to the American investor practically an unknown form of security before the war. Since the armistice approximately $1,783,595,150 (figures to April, 1924) of foreign government and municipal securities have been placed in the hands of American investors. It is safe to say that foreign loans will continue to come into the American market.

No doubt some investors who own Imperial Russian Government bonds have said harsh things about all foreign bonds. Since the bolsheviks have virtually repudiated all the debts of their predecessor governments, who will question the genuineness of such a bondholder's feeling? But one swallow does not make a summer; no more than one inexcusable default proves a whole class of securities faulty.

Before discussing some of the considerations which help the investor to look at them from purely an economic side. Not all investors actually believe that the loaning of money to other countries benefits them personally, or their business, to any appreciable extent. Most of us have heard this sound theory advanced, yet it is probably true that the argument is pretty generally regarded as being too far removed, in practice, to deserve serious consideration.

However, European nations for generations have demonstrated the fact that material benefits do accrue to their whole business fabric as a result of American capital investing in their countries. The English and the Hollanders are notable examples.

"Perhaps so," one may say, "but just how does this loaning of money abroad benefit our trade, create a greater demand for American goods, increase employment here and give more trade to all lines of business from the big steel mills to the farmers, on down to the smallest shopkeepers?"

Well, let us see why present day foreign loans are being made. Europe is under reconstruction. South America and Asia need the need for development is pressing. Money now raised here for foreign account is almost wholly money which will find its way into constructive projects; new loans are now, without exception, being made on a purely business basis. In other words, American bankers are now rarely lending abroad if they cannot see the money going (into responsible hands, of course) for a betterment of trade, both on the American side as well as the borrower's side.

The fact is, a great portion of the money is spent right here without its ever leaving the country. In a number of instances one of the conditions attaching to offerings of foreign bonds is that the proceeds from the whole loan, or a substantial part, must be used for payment of purchases made in this country.

But specific agreements are not actually necessary. Whenever development is undertaken, most anywhere in the world today, a potential outlet for American goods is thereby created. Our tremendous industries, plentiful supply of capital for our industries, our superb industrial organization—these possessions allow us to compete for world business as we never have been able to compete for it before.

Not only is this true, but these very attributes of ours demand that we continue to build business if our industries are to be kept going full time, our people kept fully employed, our standard of wages kept up and the purchasing power of our people maintained at a level where business can remain uniformly good in all lines—right up to the top of the bottom.

So, looking at the proposition coldly, these foreign loans help us to help ourselves. They assist foreign peoples to find employment on constructive projects; they assist foreign nations to put their currencies on a trading basis. These processes automatically increase foreign purchasing power here. Much like an endless chain, world trade is thus stimulated and our own prosperity better assured.

Which, by the way, is not, we cannot get away from the fact that we are definitely dependent today on foreign trade to a greater extent than many demagogues dare to admit.

U. S. Bureau Reports On Cotton Output And Distribution. Washington, October 20.—Cotton production and distribution for the season 1923-24, as compiled by the census bureau in its annual report, shows the total supply to have been 12,725,286 bales and distribution to have been 12,003,176 bales. The excess of distribution over supply, 722,110 bales, was due principally to the fact that today's domestic receipts in 1923-24, compared with 1922-23, were 1,500,000 bales since September 1, the smallest increase for any corresponding time since 1917.

Excellent weather tended to pull down cotton prices, and to emphasize the bullish influence of wheat weakness. Basis was especially affected by a huge Jan. 13.00 13.02 13.05 13.08 13.10 13.12

AMOSKEAG PASSES QUARTERLY DIVIDEND. Boston, October 20.—The directors of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company whose mills at Manchester, N. H., are the largest in the world devoted to cotton manufactures, voted today to pass the quarterly dividend on common stock. This action followed publication of the annual report showing a loss of $2,800,000 last year. The company also makes worsteds.

The announcement by the company was that the directors had "voted" that it was inadvisable to issue any further stock at this time. Treasurer F. C. Dumaine characterized his annual report as "the poorest in the history of the company."

The Libby-Owens Shale Glass company, of Toledo, has declared an extra dividend of 50 cents on the common stock payable November 1 to stockholders of record October 22.

The Day in Finance
BY

New York, October 20.—Today's price movement on the stock exchange was irregular with rails showing some strength. Favorable September railway earnings statements are expected shortly. While overproduction of crude oil has been making trouble in the oil industry for many months, leading oil interests have been reconciled inasmuch as the existing unfavorable conditions in the oil trade have had a tendency to keep oil out of politics in a presidential election year when the early indications were that a prominent part would be taken because of the government oil land scandal. The best informed oil men here expect decided improvements in the oil industry immediately after election. Frisco was the strongest of the rails on rumors that at the end of this year the common would receive an initial dividend at the annual rate of $4. Only recently the preferred stock was placed on a dividend basis.

Republic Iron and Steel reported last week for the September quarter a deficit after the preferred dividend of $482,000. It takes $437,000 to pay the quarterly preferred dividend. Wall street heard rumors today that this coming Thursday the Bethlehem Steel corporation will show for the September quarter a small deficit after fixed charges, which will mean that the preferred dividend was not earned. It takes $1,074,000 to pay quarterly dividends.

Next Tuesday September earnings of the United States Steel corporation is expected to show $1.25 for the regular quarterly dividend on the common stock with just barely enough left over to pay the extra 50 cents dividend making the $1.75 quarterly payment earned. For the June quarter of this year the surplus after the preferred dividend was equal to $3.44 on the common stock.

Nickle Plate preferred shares had an advance today of 2-1/2 points to $38,610,000 for the September, 1924, quarter. Westinghouse begins its fiscal year April 1, and for the first half of this year ending September 30, new business booked aggregates $74,733,000 against $80,608,000 for the first six months of 1923, with billings at $77,833,000 against $73,714,000.

It will be recalled that early this year the United States Steel corporation began to show a decline in the unfilled orders coming in which represented new business and at the same time a speeding up in production to fill the orders on hand. At the time the relief was expressed in this column that this policy on the part of the steel corporation management could only mean that the heads of the concern were expecting lower prices and were cleaning up as quickly as possible all of the high-priced orders on hand.

In a modified way something of the same kind seems to be going on in the management of Westinghouse. In the case of the steel corporation the policy of management in speeding up production early in the year despite the falling off in orders was justified by a subsequent decline in selling prices.

For September sales were reported to the amount of $39,573,000 against $38,700,000 for the June quarter and $38,610,000 for the September, 1924, quarter. Westinghouse begins its fiscal year April 1, and for the first half of this year ending September 30, new business booked aggregates $74,733,000 against $80,608,000 for the first six months of 1923, with billings at $77,833,000 against $73,714,000.

New York, October 20.—Declines from an opening advance owing to more favorable weather reports than expected, and larger private crop figures, were followed by partial rallies in the cotton market today. The close was steady but prices showed net losses of 22 to 27 points.

December sold off from 22.76 to 22.55 and closed at 22.47. But with 22.76 at the close of last week.

The market opened steady at an advance of five to seven points in response to steady late cables from Liverpool and uncertainty over the tropical storm situation. The weather map showed no indication of the expected cold wave in the southwest, and the report of a tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico suggested that its direction was too much to the eastward to threaten any widespread damage in the cotton belt.

The result, the market eased as soon as the initial buying orders had been supplied and selling became a little more active after the close of a private report estimating the condition at 54.7 and the indicated yield at 12,672,000 bales, compared with an end-September indication of 12,604,000 bales.

October sold off to 22.91 and January to 22.45, making net declines of 35 to 41 points. But at those figures the decline was checked by renewed covering. Trading later in the day was quieter with fluctuations rather nervous and the market prices showed rallies of about 10 to 17 points from the lowest.

Local brokers said it looked as if the tropical storm would be confined to Florida and the south Atlantic coast section, but there was considerable uncertainty regarding its further progress after the early afternoon break. It was rumored that preliminary private returns pointed to a gaining of around 7 to 7 1/4 million bales.

Exports today, 12,028, making 1,115,192 so far this season. Port receipts, 53,208. U. S. port stocks, $50,800.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK. New York, October 20.—Cotton, spot quiet; middling, 23.35.

AT NEW ORLEANS. New Orleans, October 20.—The cotton market developed a reactionary trend today, mainly owing to continued favorable weather in the belt and growing belief that the next government report due Saturday will show an increase in the crop forecast as well as record ginnings. The decline was held in check more or less by four of these bearish inclinations that the tropical disturbance would do damage in the belt. The December position at the lowest showed a loss of 38 points. Some of the loss was recovered in the afternoon and that results showed a net loss for the day of 20 points.

At the start the market was fairly steady in sympathy with Liverpool cables, which were as quiet as usual. The market soon eased off on the favorable weather map and the belief that the tropical storm would not reach any important portion of the belt. Dispatches also indicated that operators were bearish on the government report. January traded down to 22.31 and March to 22.40, with 25 to 43 points below

METHODS OF BUSINESS REVIEWED BY HUNTER

Speaking under the auspices of the local office of the Walton School of Commerce, of Chicago, Joel Hunter, well-known Atlanta auditor, Monday night addressed a large gathering at the chamber of commerce on "The Language of Business."

Representatives of many of the leading business firms of the city, the junior chamber of commerce, local universities and others interested in business administration and commerce heard the address of Mr. Hunter, which is the first of a series of lectures which have been arranged by the local office of the Walton school for the benefit of the business men of the city.

In developing his subject, Mr. Hunter went back to review the ancient methods of business, coming down from the Medes and Persians through the Greeks and Romans, particularly featuring the rights of the great free cities of Italy—Genoa and Venice. By natural sequence he moved to the Hanseatic age, with its remarkable development of the free cities of Germany, and viewed these in connection with the activities of the Netherlands.

Reaching modern times, Mr. Hunter discussed the relationship of the various departments of modern business to each other, clearly explaining the functions and duties of each department and their relationship to net profit. He explained the great need and great lack of supply of highly trained, highly developed executives. He pointed out the "advisability and absolute necessity of accounting training in the equipment of the modern business man from a viewpoint of net profits and financial operations."

UNIFORM REGISTRATION COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Councilman Horace Russell, Mrs. Chester Johnson and C. W. Cunningham, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, Monday were named by Mayor Walter A. Sims as a special committee to study the proposition of uniform registration.

Appointment of the committee was authorized by city council on October 8, following requests from the League of Women Voters and other civic organizations that the system of registration be studied and made uniform.

APPLICATIONS FOR MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following applications for marriage licenses were filed in the Fulton county ordinary's office Monday: John B. Watson, 23, and Miss Nellie Cooper, 18; Captain J. Fowler, 18, and Miss Ethel D. Veyles, 18; George G. Hooks, 29, and Miss Lucy Grooner, 23; Duff Fowler, 23, and Miss Ruby Sims, 23; F. M. Riordan, 24, and Miss Kathryn Games, 22.

INTENSIVE DRIVE BEGINS TO RAISE DAVIS-BRYAN FUND

With only about two weeks remaining in which to gather money for the financing of the Davis-Bryan campaign, the final phase of the movement in Georgia has been begun and an intensive drive has been started to round up subscriptions, it was announced Monday by Victor Allen, finance director for the state. As the newly instituted drive began, Walter McCreath, president of the Georgia Davis-Bryan club, announced that $1,150 has been received in membership fees from all over the state, and that additional remittances are being made daily by clubs in various counties.

Mrs. Edgar Alexander, national democratic committee woman for Georgia, left Monday for Macon to work with prominent democrats of that city in getting subscriptions to the fund.

22D PRETTY DAY IN SUCCESSION FORECAST TODAY

Monday was the twenty-first successive day in Atlanta without rain. Tuesday will probably be the twenty-second, inasmuch as C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local weather bureau office, predicted fair weather with little change in temperature for today.

The past three weeks have witnessed one of the most remarkable stretches of ideal weather Atlanta has ever enjoyed. Every day of the 21 has been bright and sunny, with temperatures ranging from about 60 to 80 degrees. Monday's low temperature was 58, with a high of 80.

While a storm was central Monday at the extreme southern end of Florida, with rain falling as far north as Tampa, it is not expected that the disturbance will reach Atlanta. Generally fair weather, with temperatures near normal, is the prediction for the week.

JUDGE KNIGHT'S NAME ON OFFICIAL BALLOT

G. E. Maddox, of Rome, Ga., chairman of the state democratic executive committee, was in Atlanta Monday arranging to place the name of Judge John P. Knight, of Crisp county, on the official ballot for the election on November 4. Judge Knight was the successful candidate in a special primary held in the Atlanta circuit last Friday.

Judge J. C. Dickerson, winner in the regular democratic primary on September 10, died a few weeks later, making it necessary for the special primary.

Voters of the five counties comprising the circuit will cast their ballots for Judge Knight as the regular democratic nominee on November 4.

DR. ABERCROMBIE GOES TO HEALTH CONVENTION

Seeking information that will be of value in making the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Alto one of the most modern institutions of its kind in the world, he stated, Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, secretary of the state board of health, left Monday for Detroit, where he will attend the last two days of the American Public Health association convention. Public health experts from all sections of the country are in Detroit for the convention, Dr. Abercrombie said.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, left Friday in order to attend the meeting of the governing council, held prior to the opening of the convention Monday.

FARMERS RELEASED ON $10,000 BONDS IN BRIBERY CHARGE

W. R. Blair and J. J. Stogner, Carroll county farmers, were released Monday under bonds of $10,000 each, following hearing on charges of an attempt to bribe Federal Prohibition Agent Grady Cobb.

The two men were arraigned before

United States Commissioner Joe Abbott on the federal warrants, which charged them with jointly and separately attempting to bribe Cobb. Trial was set for October 27.

Blair and Stogner, both of whom are past middle age, were arrested Saturday at their homes by special officers working under the direction of George E. Fine Arts Club To Present Noted Artist at Driving Club

Miss Daisy Jean, noted harpist, cellist, pianist and singer, who will give this afternoon a beautiful program for the Fine Arts club at the Piedmont Driving club.

Miss Daisy Jean, the Belgian cellist, harpist and soprano, will open the season of the Fine Arts club this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the ballroom of the Piedmont Driving club. A reception will follow the program. Miss Jean is one of the few living musicians to have achieved equal success in three branches of the art. She won the gold medal for playing the harp at the Brussels conservatory in her early childhood before she had won recognition as the world's leading woman cellist, yet she was playing the cello in public concerts at the age of 9, and graduated from the conservatory at 15, with the highest honors in all branches.

During the war, Miss Jean devoted her art to the task of raising funds for her native land and in this she was so successful that she was decorated by King Albert and presented by the Belgian people with a fine old Italian cello in appreciation of her exceptional achievements in their behalf.

After playing in England and Canada, Miss Jean made her New York debut at Aeolian hall purely as a cellist and received immediate recognition from the metropolitan press.

Since that time, however, she has specialized in programs, displaying her versatility, using both the harp and cello and singing to her own accompaniment at the piano, as well as the harp.

Miss Jean comes from one of the most famous musical families of the world today. One sister was said to ment her guests on Saturday at the Biltmore tea-dance.

Prof. Sutton Commends Kirkwood School in Speech Before P.-T. A.

Kirkwood P.-T. A. met recently with a large number of mothers present, Mrs. A. E. Wilson, president, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Professor Willis Sutton, after which the minutes were read by Mrs. Thornton Smith, the new secretary.

In the absence of Mrs. C. W. Butler, who is ill, Miss Robson read the secretary's report. This report showed very gratifying results of the cooperative work under the management of Mrs. Butler. The first week in the month the workers who serve in the lunch room have a meeting, presided over by Mrs. Butler. Each mother has a slip of paper on which she writes her name and the date she is to serve, with the menu she wishes to serve. These slips are handed to Mrs. Butler, who does the ordering, and an efficient paid helper in the kitchen prepares the food in a most appetizing way. At these meetings different food values are discussed and the combination of foods selected to make a well balanced lunch. The report showed that the lunch room is clearing from $15 to $20 a week. We pass this lunch room plan on, hoping it will be of benefit to other associations.

Miss Robson, chairman of grounds, asked for shrubs and trees, dogwood and crepe myrtle, to be planted on Arbor day. She said more benches were needed in the yard. Mrs. Charles Fincher, better films chairman, announced a picture for every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, except the third Wednesday in the month, as the P.-T. A. meets on that day. The proceeds from the picture is increasing most satisfactorily under Mrs. Fincher's supervision.

Mrs. H. G. Parks, press chairman, and keeper of the scrap book, asked that a new scrap book be purchased.

Mrs. Charles Fincher very kindly offered to donate the book.

Membership Drive.

There were 15 grades that qualified for the prize in the recent membership drive. Each one of those grades having the father and mother of each child as members of the P.-T. A. The other grades run a close second, having 93.9 members. A prize of $10 was given to each grade qualifying. Mrs. Wilson introduced three welcome visitors, Mrs. D. L. Wise, a past president of the Parents' club; Mr. Hancock, of the board of education, and Professor Willis Sutton. Mrs. Wise in giving terms spoke of the work being done by the Kirkwood P.-T. A. She said not only Atlanta, but the state had noticed its achievements. Mr. Hancock said he was very much interested in the splendid report made by the treasurer. He urged the association to keep up the fine work and asked that the association interest itself in the board of education. All pulling together for the welfare of the Atlanta children.

Playgrounds.

Mr. Sutton spoke on playgrounds, recreation and physical fitness, not alone for the child, but for the mother. He urged the mothers to keep physically fit for the children's sake as well as their own. He spoke of the splendid cooperative spirit existing between the teachers and mothers of Kirkwood school, and said that it was this wonderful working together that had made it a 100 per cent school in every way. He urged us to build for future generations and the making of a race of strong men and women by teaching physical fitness and the high standard for character. He spoke of the principal, Miss Bremer, as one of the finest trainers of teachers in the city, and congratulated Kirkwood school for having her as a principal. He urged that the work done last year on the children's teeth be kept up in a 100 per cent condition, that Kirkwood school was to make a test school at the close of the school year. He spoke of the necessity of well-equipped playgrounds, saying children need a proper place and the right environment to play to build the right kind of bodies and characters.

Miss Bremer announced that five of the teachers would supervise the playground two afternoons a week, Tuesdays and Fridays from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. It was voted to donate $25 for added equipment for the two kindergarten classes. The count for the most mothers present gave the grade prizes to Miss Bond, low-one-two and Miss Moore, low-five-one. The Hess statue went to Miss Wheeler, Miss Moore and Mrs. Pritchett. Mr. Wilson announced the Fifth district meeting for October 31, at the Woman's club, those wishing to attend please notify Mrs. Wilson, Decatur 6435, at once. The question of needed kitchen equipment was brought to the attention of the association. Mrs. A. E. Wilson and Mrs. William Camp were appointed as the committee to purchase the things needed. Mrs. William Camp presented a resolution inviting pure milk for the schools of Atlanta which was carried.

Suppose we look at self-rising flour this way: Never before has a food product had so many steadfast friends—never before has a single household article been so universally popular. There must be something mighty good about self-rising flour or so many thousands of good cooks would not buy it year after year!

It is a fact that people who use self-rising flour are not only satisfied with the final answer, but in the long run, they are saving themselves the trouble of measuring flour. Let me give you

Fifth District President Postpones Council Meeting.

Mrs. H. G. Hastings, president of the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs, has postponed until Tuesday, October 28, the meeting of the district's president's council which she had called for Wednesday, October 22, on account of the necessity for holding at once the regular fall meeting of the largest unit in the district, the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs. The Atlanta federation, according to announcement made by Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president, will meet at the Biltmore hotel, in the ballroom, on Wednesday morning, October 22, at 10 o'clock, preceded by a meeting of the executive board at 10 o'clock.

The urgent need to hold the regular meeting of the Atlanta federation at the earliest date possible is because of the large undertaking immediately ahead of the federation—which is entertainment of the annual convention of the Georgia federation, November 1 to 14, Mrs. Stevens, who is general chairman of arrangements for entertaining, has headquarters in room 606, Chamber of Commerce building, and has been engaged for several weeks past in preliminary organization work. Mrs. R. K. Rambo, second vice president of the Atlanta federation is vice chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Plans as outlined look toward a series of brilliant entertainment features to begin with an Armistice program on Tuesday evening at the Baptist tabernacle in which the entire community will have a part, and to end with luncheon tendered the state executive board as a part of the post convention meeting of the board, which follows immediately on the close of the convention. Hospitality will begin at the railroad stations, where all delegates will be met and welcomed by various committees, and will be continued in detail throughout the gathering. Each day luncheon will be tendered the delegates at the Atlanta Biltmore, headquarters for the convention, and each evening will be replete with entertainment features. Even breakfasts will have a special status, many groups having planned programs for this hour.

The president's breakfast will be one of these special occasions, and will be one of the largest and most important groups which will gather to thrash out special problems. Mrs. L. O. Freeman, of College Park, has been appointed by Mrs. Stevens as chairman of arrangements for this.

Women's Clubs Will Take Active Part.

In common with all Atlantans who will give the week of November 5 to 22 to the filling of Atlanta's Community Chest for the support of the city's charities next year, the women's clubs of Atlanta are preparing to take an active part in this event.

Third Audience Rehearsal

THE CONDUCTOR AND HIS AUDIENCE

For Big Symphony Concerts

Leide stands—makes a quick survey of the orchestra—gives signal—the two great units, the orchestra and the audience, are in "dress rehearsal." There is an unusual keenness concerning this rehearsal, for it is the first time the Atlanta Symphony orchestra has played with a soloist.

Orchestra Personnel.

Musical Form.
In this first program we will hear the overture, concertos, symphonies, music, dance, nocturne, tarentelle and march. Music has a definite architecture and can be studied as easily as the shape of a building. It has been said that "Architecture is frozen music," and the converse of this proposition is also true, for every classical work and almost every bit of folk-song has a recognizable shape. Musical form generally possesses two elements—contrast and symmetry.

The overture is the introductory part of an opera or opera; also an independent piece for full band or orchestra and is known as the concert overture. In the seventeenth century Lully first gave shape to the overture; then the style of Bach and Handel. Mozart founded the classical overture; Mendelssohn was the chief founder of the modern overture.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry
For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home remedy. Everybody and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex, then add one ounce of sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it. You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membrane in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most famous remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—(adv.)

Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Hopes Other Women Will Benefit by Her Experience

Skowhegan, Maine.—"I was sick most of the time and could not get around to do my work without being all tired out so I would have to lie down. One day when I was reading the paper I saw the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertisement and saw what it did for other women, so I thought I would try it. I have taken three bottles, and cannot begin to tell you what it has already done for me. I do all my work now and keep up the whole day long without lying down. I have no more headaches nor tired feelings. I hope every woman who takes the Vegetable Compound will get as much benefit out of it as I have."—Mrs. PERCY W. RICHARDSON, R.F.D. No. 2, Skowhegan, Maine.

ANSWERED LETTERS.
A Thoughtful Mother.—Test your daughter's posture first to see exactly how much of a correction must be made to overcome her tendency to round shoulders. No spine is absolutely straight and the natural position is the right one. To ascertain this, stand your daughter with her side to a mirror and hold a pole vertically with the base of the spine, even with the ball of the feet. The pole should be in line with the ear and pass about an inch in front of arm and shoulder, and slightly back of the front of the waist and the front of the knee.
If your daughter wears high heels these should be changed to low, square ones. Holding her head up with chin back and slightly in, will also help her to retain a correct posture. If she has used up much vitality in growing she would naturally feel it at her age, which would account for her tendency to stoop. Learning to stand correctly will help also as all the organs function much better when a correct, natural position of the body is maintained. Tennis would be a good sport for her, as it would build up and also strengthen muscles that now cause the drooping.
Mae Bee.—You will take a great risk of scarring your lip if you do any experimenting with the mole. Go to a good dermatologist and have the blemish removed now while it is still small.
Peggy E. M. L.—Acne should be treated by a specialist as it is due to a blood condition and over-activity of the fatty glands. You can do much to help an oily skin if you keep your digestive system in a normal, healthy condition. An oily skin means that the pores are overtaxed and soon become enlarged; blackheads follow easily, so the real cure must come through having a clean digestive tract.
It will help the oily condition somewhat if you use bran or oatmeal in the water when bathing the face, and add a drop or two of benzoin to the water. Drink plenty of water; and be sure to take the full, daily, warm bath to keep the pores open the whole body relieving those of the face from being overworked.

Do All Twins Look Alike?

This is a question about which experts differ and in order to make a public test The Constitution is asking for photographs of Georgia twins for publication in its Pictorial Gravure section.

We want photographs of twins of any age—babies, children, middle-aged or elders will be used, the only condition being that each single photograph of twins should bear plainly on the back of it the names of the twins, indicating each by "right" and "left"—also giving the names and addresses of their parents.

Where photographs of twins are sent separately the name of the twin should be given plainly on the back of the photograph with the address of the parents.

Mail all photographs to "TWIN PICTURE DEPARTMENT," THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

This twin contest is open to the state of Georgia, and all photographs of twins sent will be welcomed. Here in Atlanta The Constitution will be glad to have photographs taken of twins upon hearing from their parents, giving name and address in a letter to "Twin Picture Department," Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. No charge will be made for photographs taken in Atlanta by our photographic staff. Outside of Atlanta photographs must be furnished, unless twins are brought here, when their photographs will be taken. NO PHOTOGRAPHS will be returned.

By studying these photographs the public will be able to judge for itself whether or not all twins look alike.

The Box-Like Shingle Is Trying to the Slender Neck

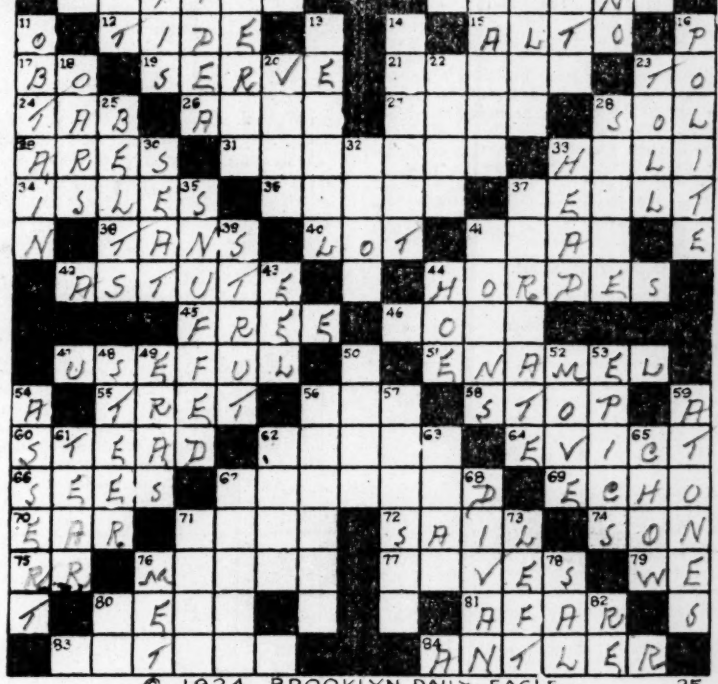

BY MADAME LOUISE
Nationally known authority on hairdress. Trustee of National Hairdressers' association; executive board member of Chicago organization.

Pretty Miss-Up-to-Date is greatly disappointed in her haircut. To her a shingle had meant the short, box-like cut that she had ordered. This cut has not improved her slender neck. Miss-Up-to-Date should wear the longer cut, which in effect shortens and fills out the neck. Loose waves drawn low would lend a softening grace to the high, square forehead.

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR B. T. BOMAR, 72

Newman, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Funeral services for B. T. Bomar, 72, who died at his home here Sunday morning, were held from the Emory church near Stonewall at 11 o'clock this morning. Mr. Bomar was a prominent citizen of this community, and had been active in civic and political movements for a number of years.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:
Gentlemen:
Your "Krumbled Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.
Yours truly,
Arlington H. Carman,
Pacheco, N. Y.
Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.
Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purifies them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.—(adv.)

The French and the Anglo-Saxon

BY JULIA HOYT

Americans have much to learn about art, but they are ready and willing to be taught, says Julia Hoyt.

(Copyright, 1924, in United States and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. All Rights Reserved.)

When returning from a trip to foreign countries one is rather likely for the first few days to contrast one's own country, its people as well as its architecture, with the countries which have just been visited. This year I formed a new opinion, an opinion with which some people may not agree. That is, that though many Americans are Anglo-Saxons, and though we have certain characteristics more or less like those of the English, we are really more in sympathy and have more in common with the French. Perhaps it is because in many of us there is a Celtic strain.

In the first place, we have certain childlike qualities possessed by the French, such as the capacity for enjoyment, romance (though we try to trample it), in addition, the human emotion enters into everything we do. This is, undoubtedly, more French than English. One of the characteristics of the French is the distinct feeling with the English that they will be polite, considerate and efficient, providing everything according to rule and claim, but not asked to step outside of the literal and simple conception of that rule. In other words, they will do their duty as they have been directed in whatever walk of life they may be; but you must never expect them to step beyond that for any personal reason.

The Frenchman, perhaps, if he does not like you, will be much less polite than the Englishman if he does not like you; but if a Frenchman does like you he often will do a great deal more for you than duty requires of him. In my opinion we are very much the same in this respect. Everyone tries to claim that in America money is everything. Personally, I do not agree. I think there is nothing in America that will get better service and more attention than an attractive, considerate and courteous person.

French waiters, porters, etc., put a great deal more value on the tip than do our waiters. The obvious reason for this is that the wages paid them are absolutely absurd. For example, my hotel in Paris the chambermaid and valet are paid 75 francs a month by the hotel, the equivalent of $4.50. Naturally, they are very much dependent on their tips. But even with a big tip, if a Frenchman or woman does not like you it is difficult to make them pay you much attention.

It may be that English efficiency is based on sticking to the letter of the law as applied to your job, whatever it may be. Personally, it seems to me that in almost everything, the person who is capable of judging the human being with whom he is dealing and acting accordingly will be more successful than the cut-and-dried letter-of-the-law person.

Naturally, in certain ways, it is the English that we admire and not the French. It is impossible for an American to understand the moral sense, for instance, of the French. Their ideas on this subject are as different from ours as is their language, and, in the opinion of the average American man, their standard is a very low one. Also in the field of sports, or rather of sportsmanship, the continental is again incomprehensible to us. But the resemblance again comes in the fact that they are willing and are making an effort to learn just as we are trying to learn in certain fields in which we are not as yet highly developed.

The English, on the contrary, do not appear to wish to learn anything farther, in fact, do not even feel that they need it. I was interested in talking to a Russian artist who has been a good deal in America and England. He said that although, as we all know, Americans have skill in art, still wherever he went he found great interest and ambition towards this end; whereas in England there is very little interest shown.

The first is a beautiful example of legato singing; the second, a florid number, always a test of an operatic contralto's coloratura ability.

With a charity circus at Spiller's park November 5 to 15, as the first step, members of Ararat Grotto have announced plans for development of their order, which is a play organization of Master Masons, to a point of membership of thousands and a permanent home.

The circus will be a full-size professional show, with a canvas top and all the accessories from peanuts and red lemmonade to a clown, band and "bring out the boys" men. Non-jawed ladies and slack-waisted artists, equestrian and sword swallowers, tumblers and contortionists will all be there.

Arrangements to entertain without cost the inmates and beneficiaries of 35 charitable institutions of the Atlanta district on one night of the circus and newboys on another night, have been made. There will be two performances nightly, at 7 and 9 o'clock, and several matinee performances in the 10 days' course of the show.

The circus is being produced by the Real Estate Circus and Producing Co., the largest fraternal amusement enterprise in the world, whose representative, Carl Hoppenstein, has been in Atlanta more than a week arranging details for the show. Officers of the Grotto, in preparation for the circus, have been opened at 139 Peachtree street, where W. W. Hughes, monarch of the grotto, is general chairman and head of the executive committee of the circus.

Nashville, Tenn., October 20.—Concluding his personal campaign in Tennessee, John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, today gathered a large number of business men and other leaders of the conservative movement to a gathering at the Vanderbilt hotel, making the outstanding feature of his address there an extended explanation of his program in the Washington arms conference and the naval limitation treaty.

"If you are afraid of radicalism in this country," Mr. Davis said, "if you want to prevent radicalism in this country you will not do it by throwing yourselves into the arms of reaction. There is no relief there."

Mr. Davis spoke to an audience gathered in the chamber of commerce which he described as "the financial heart of the city." have recently entered upon an epoch in which by international agreement our navy assumes a new relationship with the problem of seapower in the world. Under the terms of the Washington conference, the leading sea powers have united in the agreement that the United States is entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power.

"In the language of old Ethan Allen," Mr. Davis said, "we are now 'entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power.'"

"I read on 'This we are assured of a naval rank second to none, while at the same time, under the provisions of the military operations in naval armaments, this rank is assured to us without engaging in a competition of maritime construction, and at a less cost than would have been possible under the old regime of competitive building.'"

Assurance Questioned.

"By these agreements we are 'assured of a naval rank second to none,' a word that is true. For notwithstanding these agreements, not withstanding that other powers have asserted that we are entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power, as the secretary of the navy says, that we are grossly inferior equal to Great Britain, and barely equal to Japan, and that is the situation at this time, the paper agreement to assure a naval equal to that of any other power. Now, I do the president this credit of believing that he really did not understand the import of that language."

"I cannot believe that the president of the United States, at all, and I take it he knows as well as do the American people that the effect and purpose of those agreements were, that so far as naval armaments were concerned, and so far as the United States, Great Britain and Japan would by common consent, observe a ratio of five to three, but that it was the end of the competitive navy building, I wish I could believe. I should rejoice if that were its real scope and effect, but that is not the step in that direction, I welcome it."

Are Other Weapons. "But the American people should not misunderstand. They should know that fast cruisers and aircraft and submarines and all the other weapons of the future—that all those remain untouched by any agreement that that conference made. All I ask is that the more powerful armaments, the most of a political campaign may not null the American people into a security greater than they at present enjoy."

"There is, first," he said, "the theory deriving historically from Hamiltonian sources, that government is the property of the people, and that the rich, the well-born and the able, and that the welfare of the mass can best be served by serving the interests of the few, but that the good fortune of the few; that if you build up by privilege large accumulations of wealth, if you make the business of a chosen few prosperous by law, will all the other weapons of the future—that all those remain untouched by any agreement that that conference made. All I ask is that the more powerful armaments, the most of a political campaign may not null the American people into a security greater than they at present enjoy."

All I ask is that the more powerful armaments, the most of a political campaign may not null the American people into a security greater than they at present enjoy."

Second Theory is Paternal. "The second theory," he continued, "strongly tinged with socialistic leanings, although denying that it has entirely acceded to it, is that the government should control the activities of the government and throw them more and more into the field occupied by individual enterprise, and that the government should have sheltered us and our fathers before us for so many enduring years, and beneath which we may hope still being under the protection of the government, in place of that structure a new one shall be erected, planned upon castles in the air devised only by the architect."

Government By All. "And there remains a third theory, and that the government rests now and at all times upon the consent not of part but of all the governed; that the government is the property of the people, and that the welfare of the mass can best be served by serving the interests of the few, but that the good fortune of the few; that if you build up by privilege large accumulations of wealth, if you make the business of a chosen few prosperous by law, will all the other weapons of the future—that all those remain untouched by any agreement that that conference made. All I ask is that the more powerful armaments, the most of a political campaign may not null the American people into a security greater than they at present enjoy."

It believes also that liberty can only be conserved in small areas; that good government must arise from the people, and that the closer it can be kept to those by whom it is served, the greater the guaranty of honesty and fidelity. It believes that the measure of interest the citizen will exhibit on local self-government, and home rule, with all that it means. It is the theory that believes that all unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation and that the government can have but one warrant for invading the property of the individual citizen.

Asks Full Support of South. "I need not name to you the party that professes these principles. I need not exhort you to continued fidelity, and fidelity to the ways shown; but I venture to express the hope that this year the people of Tennessee and the people of the United States will unite in a common and overwhelming voice to pledge to them again their allegiance."

"I hope that on that day of the assembly there may be no necessity to count the absentees and mourn because they are not registered, but that the full force of the manly and vigorous leadership of the south will be cast again in the scales of honesty, of justice and of right."

Drawing parallels between the periods of Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Davis challenged any man to read the history of Jackson and the social problem of the South from 1913 to 1921 without realizing that his spirit lived again in the frail form of Woodrow Wilson.

"I have been much criticized by some of my republican friends because it is asserted I have been disparaging the purpose and the results of the Washington conference," Mr. Davis said. "Nothing could be further from the fact than that I have been, I am now, ready to give credit for everything that it accomplished. I am ready to approve the fact that it was called and, in the main, with some reservation, to approve its results. But I am equally determined that the American people shall not be misled as to its scope and its importance; that they shall not be persuaded that it is the final answer to this great question, or in the language of the president himself, that it stands 'among the revolutionary and sublime achievements of the human race.'"

Needed No Permission. "Imagine my surprise when I read today in the press under the hand of the president himself, comment on that conference, that it was a failure. I should have never made more disparaging to it, if literally pursued, than anything I would have dared to say. Let me give you his words: 'We have recently entered upon an epoch in which by international agreement our navy assumes a new relationship with the problem of seapower in the world. Under the terms of the Washington conference, the leading sea powers have united in the agreement that the United States is entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power."

"In the language of old Ethan Allen," Mr. Davis said, "we are now 'entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power.'"

"I read on 'This we are assured of a naval rank second to none, while at the same time, under the provisions of the military operations in naval armaments, this rank is assured to us without engaging in a competition of maritime construction, and at a less cost than would have been possible under the old regime of competitive building.'"

Assurance Questioned. "By these agreements we are 'assured of a naval rank second to none,' a word that is true. For notwithstanding these agreements, not withstanding that other powers have asserted that we are entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power, as the secretary of the navy says, that we are grossly inferior equal to Great Britain, and barely equal to Japan, and that is the situation at this time, the paper agreement to assure a naval equal to that of any other power. Now, I do the president this credit of believing that he really did not understand the import of that language."

"I cannot believe that the president of the United States, at all, and I take it he knows as well as do the American people that the effect and purpose of those agreements were, that so far as naval armaments were concerned, and so far as the United States, Great Britain and Japan would by common consent, observe a ratio of five to three, but that it was the end of the competitive navy building, I wish I could believe. I should rejoice if that were its real scope and effect, but that is not the step in that direction, I welcome it."

DISCHARGE M'ADOO FROM HOSPITAL; SILENT ON PLANS

Baltimore, Md., October 20.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who has been a patient at Johns Hopkins hospital for several weeks, was discharged from the institution today. Seen in the office of his physician, Dr. Hugh H. Young, Mr. McAdoo refused to discuss his plans, and declined to say where he would go upon leaving Baltimore.

Dr. Young, in a statement last week, said that it was inadvisable for the former treasury secretary to enter the strenuous work of the presidential campaign, as Mr. McAdoo had prescribed for his patient a period of rest and quiet following his release.

EARTH TREMORS FELT IN SOUTH

Columbia, S. C., October 20.—A generally throughout the Piedmont region of South Carolina early today, according to reports received in Columbia, Spartanburg, Greenville, Anderson and Greenwood, that a report that the shock was sufficient to awaken sleeping persons and to rattle windows and crockery. No damage was done. It was said. A number of persons said they felt the shock in Columbia, but the weather bureau had no record of the earthquake.

Washington, October 20.—The Georgetown university seismograph, which registers earthquake shocks from all over the world, failed to give any indication of the tremors reported in North and South Carolina during the night of October 19-20. It was inclined to believe the disturbance was not of seismic origin.

Spartanburg, S. C., October 20.—Thousands sleeping in Spartanburg and Greenville counties were awakened this morning by an earthquake whose tremors were distinctly felt in the city and at points within a radius of 75 miles from Spartanburg between 3:34 and 3:39 o'clock. The tremors of the earth were felt only slightly here.

Asheville, N. C., October 20.—Distinct earth shocks were felt in Asheville and Hendersonville at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The "quake" lasted about one minute and consisted of a series of tremors. At Hendersonville the shocks were more violent than in this city. Window panes were rattled, mirrors and kitchen utensils were shaken. No damage was reported in this section. Weather bureau officials have no data on the shocks. The earthquake is the first felt in this section since the Charleston, S. C., earthquake in 1886.

Two local reports were made of the earthquake tremors felt in various parts of Georgia, North and South Carolina early Monday morning. W. H. Lee, of Oxford, Ga., reported that shortly before 3 o'clock Monday morning he and Mrs. Lee felt vibrations that "rattled the windows, wardrobe and dressing tables for several seconds, although no wind was blowing."

W. J. Welles, who lives in the Euclid apartment house on Euclid and Street, reported to The Constitution that he felt a "shock" Monday morning about 3 o'clock. The vibrations were not severe enough to disturb furniture or shake the windows, he said, but was plain enough to wake him from sleep. The shock lasted for about a half a minute, Mr. Welles said.

GEORGIANS AWAKENED BY TREMOR OF EARTH. Athens, Ga., October 20.—Many residents of Athens were startled from sleep about 3:30 this morning by an earth tremor, which was the first perceptible quake in this region since 1886. No damage has been reported.

TRAVELING SLOWLY AT SANTA CRUZ. Santa Cruz, Calif., October 20.—The Shenandoah passed here at 7 p. m., traveling very slowly and heading for the south, which was coming up from the south, which was about eight miles off the coast.

REPEAT SHENANDOAH'S TRIP. Los Angeles, October 20.—The dirigible ZL-3, to be renamed "Los Angeles," will make a transcontinental flight similar to the one now being undertaken by the Shenandoah. It was indicated in a telegram received here from Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy.

The men did not hear the train approaching and jumped. They were not hurt.

SAYS MEN MUST LEAD IN SOCIAL SOLUTION. Chicago, October 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Men must take the initiative and set the example in things that are to solve the home problem and the social problem, the Rev. Dr. W. S. Dwyer, of Los Angeles, declared today in the keynote address of the fourth convention of the Lutheran Brotherhood, held in the United States Church of America. Regular convention sessions of the church as a whole will be opened formally tomorrow.

Present social, political and international disorders," said the Rev. Dwyer, "make it necessary for men to take the initiative in solving the home problem and the social problem."

It is understood that a property settlement was agreed to some time ago.

MRS. EGAN'S GIFT ASSURES $100,000 FOR S. S. BUILDING. Gifts aggregating $100,000, to be used for construction of a five-story Sunday school building, have been made by Mrs. Mary V. Egan, mother of the late John J. Egan. The building is to be a memorial to her husband, who was a well-known Atlanta capitalist, philanthropist and church worker, and will form a part of the Central Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Egan had previously given $60,000 toward construction of such a building and made the additional $40,000 gift after she learned that additional funds would be necessary. Actual work on the Sunday school building, which is to be one of the largest in the south, is expected to begin within the next 30 days. The building will be erected in the rear of the church and will extend parallel to Washington street to Hunter street. The property on which it is to be located was donated by J. B. Campbell, one of the leading members of the church.

Sims To Appoint Board of Survey For Consolidation. The first real step in consolidation of various departments of city government probably will be taken this week, when Mayor Walter A. Sims will appoint a committee of three councilmen and two aldermen to survey all departments with their possible consolidation in view.

The resolution authorizing appointment of the committee was introduced by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, and came only after council was informed at the last meeting that the section authorizing the city to consolidate departments was not included in the omnibus charter amendment bill passed by the legislature last year.

THE GUMPS—HOMEWARD BOUND

Red Riding Hood

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.
Mrs. Morgan Schuyler, one of New York's leading philanthropic and social lights, advertised for a young woman to work in her apartment morning. The advertisement is answered by a girl evidently of birth and breeding. In spite of the fact that she admits a desire to hide her identity, Mrs. Schuyler accepts her on trust and tags her with the name of Hope Emerson.

Mrs. Schuyler's family consists of her mother, Mrs. Van Dorn; a young brother, Jim Van Dorn, and an older brother, Bertie, who is away.

The second morning her employment Hope faints after receiving a mysterious telephone call. Mrs. Schuyler summons Dr. Osborne. Hope tells the doctor that she is employed during the afternoon hours on East Seventeenth street. The doctor offers to drive her there. By a strange coincidence the doctor has an appointment at the house where Hope is employed. He has been called in consultation with two other doctors; the closest guardian is an uncle named Scarwenka. All of the members of this household are foreigners except Hope, who is known here as Sonia. A day or two later a mysterious visitor, Colonel Van Saanen, a man of obvious importance, calls at the Seventeenth street house. Hope distrusts him and she learns that Scarwenka does also. Van Saanen tells her that he is going to take the boy away that night. Hope decides to call on Dr. Osborne for help.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

DR. OSBORNE RESPONDS.

Hope asked for Dr. Osborne's number and almost immediately heard a pleasant feminine voice at the other end of the wire. She wondered if this was Osborne's wife. No one had mentioned in her hearing whether or not the young doctor was married.

"Who is it, please?" the pleasant voice was asking.

"One of the doctor's patients. May I speak to him?"

"The doctor is dressing now and his office hours are over." The voice was crisp now and rather professional. Hope decided that the speaker was a trained nurse employed by the doctor and probably ready for some offtime herself.

His sole reaction seemed to be impatience.

"I know," Hope said, "but this is very important. I'm sure he'll speak to me. Please tell him it's Miss Emerson."

There was a slight delay, a click suggesting a transfer to a connecting line, then Osborne's voice.

"Yes. What is it?"

The relief of hearing the voice was rather amazing. Hope had not realized how much she was counting on this man's help till she heard that clipped, incisive speech.

"Doctor Osborne, this is Miss Emerson. Something has happened that I simply must talk to you about. May I come to your office, and will you spare me ten minutes?"

There was an instant's silence, in which she rushed on.

"I'm so sorry to ask this, but it's desperately important."

The doctor's voice came again, not quite so crisp this time.

"I've a dinner and theater engagement, and only ten minutes to make it. Still, if it's so important—"

"Oh, thank you."

"How soon can you get here?"

"Not for ten or fifteen minutes, I'm afraid. I'm downtown. But I'll take a taxicab and be there as best time I can. And thank you so very much."

"Well—I'll wait."

He didn't want to wait. That was clear and, to Hope, an unimportant detail.

Taking a taxicab was not the simple affair she had imagined. Almost everyone else in New York that night seemed bent on taking a taxicab or had already taken one. At the corner of the main avenue to which she hastened taxicab after taxicab swept past, filled with more fortunate beings than herself. In desperation she finally got into a trolley car and then, reaching the heart of the city, exchanged it for the swifter vehicles; but all this took time, and almost half an hour had passed before she reached the doctor's office. She found that gentleman striding up and down his reception room and obviously fuming. He was looking unexpectedly handsome in his evening clothes, but she was given no leisure to admire him. He greeted her with an actual bark of impatience.

"I'm awfully sorry," she said, hurrying forward.

"So'm I."

Hope told herself that this was one of the rudest men she had ever met.

"Now that you've finally got here, sit down," he said, more calmly, pulling a chair over to the open fire. "It's warmer here than in the office, and no one will interrupt us. I suppose you know I've been waiting half an hour; but I'll wait a little longer."

Hope explained the delay in one sentence, emphasized the fact that Doctor Phelps was out of town, and plunged into her story. This was not a time to waste words and she was very economical with them, but the beginning of her narrative found Osborne still impatient and uninterested. He rose from the facing chair into which he had irritably dropped, and again lunged about the room, his hands in his pockets, his shoulders hunched, his frowning regard sometimes fixed on her, sometimes on the fire. His sole reaction seemed to be impatience, impatience mingled with a growing surprise that she was telling him all this, bothering him about it. When she reached the episode of the puppy there was a moment when the man actually appeared to think she had come to implore him to right this grievous wrong to a dumb animal. He turned and glared at her, but she hurried on. She was determined to let him get the cumulative effect of the experience, as she herself had got it. At the end she stopped and looked at him.

"So all this amounts to," he abruptly commented, standing in front of her and looking down with a corrugated brow, "is your suspicion that he won't be kind to the kid?"

"It's more than a suspicion. It's an instinct. Call it feminine intuition if you like. I've told you all I know." Her voice underlined the last word.

"What? What? What? A different thing. I'm absolutely sure the last word won't be safe with him."

"And you say Scarwenka feels that way, too?"

Plainly this fact had weight with Osborne, if her intuition had not. He considered it a moment.

"So much so that he's risking a lot in putting the matter into my hands."

"Oh, I don't know. He seems to be putting it up to you and letting you take the consequences." The doctor repeated his tour around the room and again brought up before her. "Well, what are you going to do?"

"That's what I'm here to ask you."

"Good Lord, how should I know? I'm a doctor, not a sleuth in a mystery story. Why should you pass the buck to me? Why didn't you pick Hatch?"

"He's so much older than you," Hope said gently, "and—well, I didn't stop to think much about him."

"We might talk to him now, on the telephone."

"I'm afraid there isn't time."

He wouldn't be so irritated, she reflected, if he meant to repudiate what she had termed the passing of the buck. It would be easy enough for him to do so—to pretend to regard the whole thing as a mare's nest, to point out that he was too busy to hunt for mare's nests with her, and to more or less kindly but firmly get rid of her. He was doing nothing of the sort. He was considering the situation with the bitter resentment of an overworked man facing an imperative demand on his time.

"If you saw the little fellow drowning you'd risk your life to save him. If you were called in when he was strangling with croup, you'd work over him all night. I believe he's in greater danger than these—and, after all, he's your patient, you know. And in any case, she produced a trump card, "you ought to see him tonight. He has caught another cold."

"That's one thing. This other matter isn't in my line!"

Hope almost smiled. The tone was so exactly that of a spoiled, impatient boy.

"Saving life is very much in your line, it seems to me," she pointed out.

"Oh, come now! This is New York. You don't imagine the fellow's going to murder that kid, do you?"

"There are murders in New York," she reminded him. "And I believe Van Saanen is capable of anything. While he was looking through the window at the Tartar I had a flash of something horrible—"

She shivered. "Of course I shall go back to Alexander tonight in any case, and I'll stay with him day and night till I get in touch with Colonel Van Saanen. But—if anything happens—what good am I against Colonel Van Saanen?"

He continued to glower at her.

"There's always the police," he muttered, and saw her whiten.

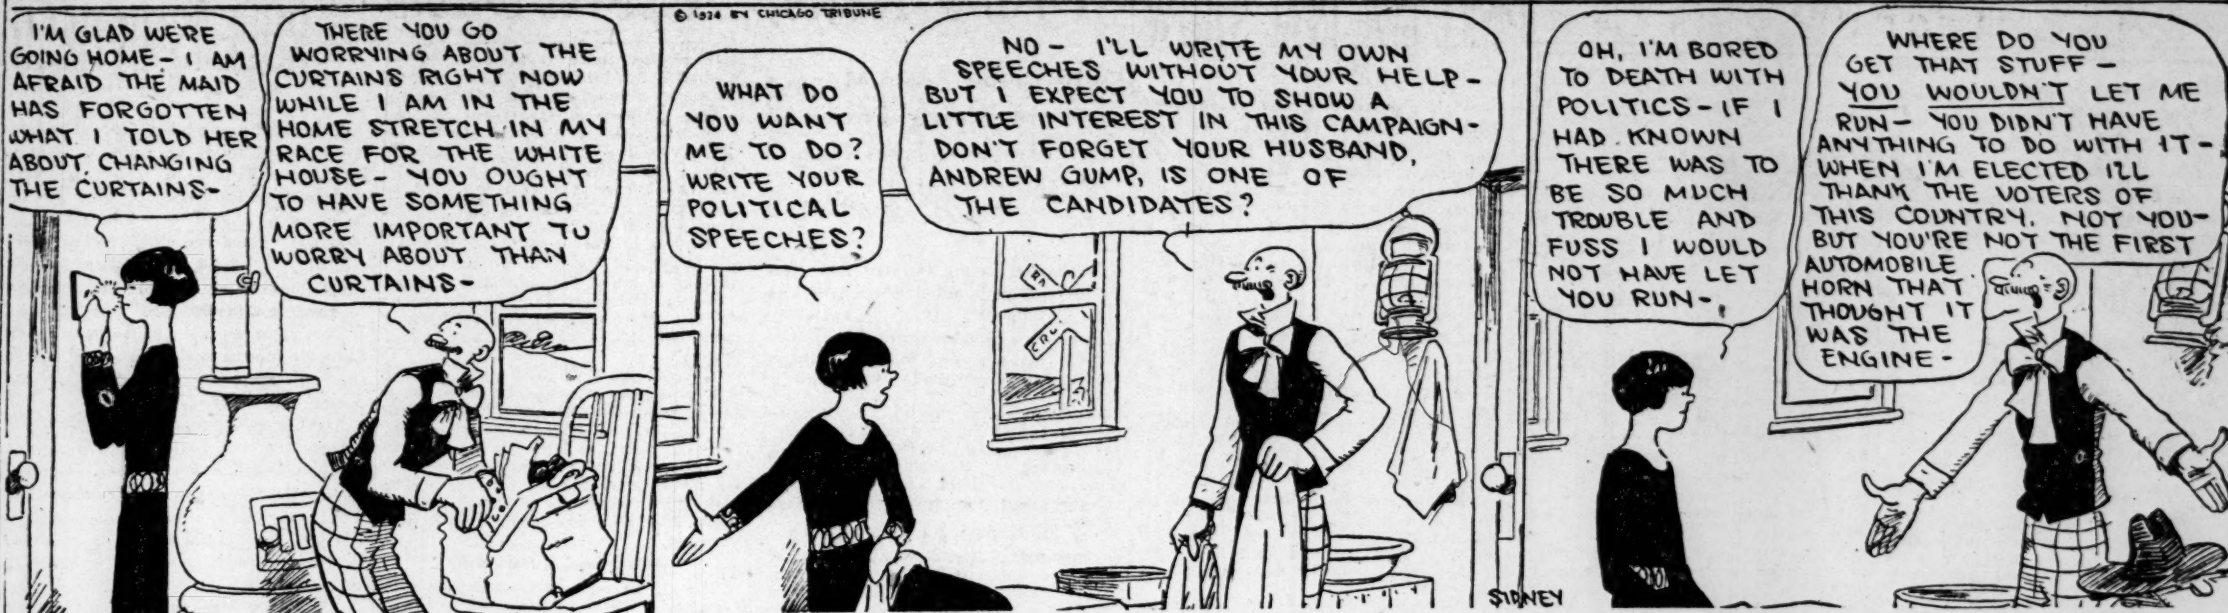

"No, no," she cried. "We mustn't turn to the police if there's any other way."

"The only other way is to keep the kid out of his clutches," he reluctantly conceded as he strode around the room again at a pace that apparently sought to outrun this duty.

"That's it," she said eagerly. "Hide him! That's what we must do."

THE GOOD OLD JOKE.

By Gertrude M. Walker.

I wonder why there's such a fuss Because a joke is old;

Is not "the sweet old story" still The one most often told?

We hear men speak of "good old days" And "good old friends of mine;"

What would we give could we but have A glass of "good old wine?"

We teach about the "dear old flag," Each "good old star and stripe;"

And dad is always fondlest of His rank but good old pipe.

"This good old world" and "good old songs" Are terms we often use;

And, ah, our fond allegiance for A pair of "good old shoes!"

We always view with reverence

And love the ancient oak; I wonder why it is we can't Enjoy an ancient joke!

He Liked Her Color Scheme.

Finnian: "What is your favorite color?"

Haddie: "My girl's eyes."

His Opinion.

"It says here in the paper," remarked Mrs. Johnson, in the midst of her reading, "that crime cost the people of the United States four billion dollars last year."

"Well, I'd gogged if I believe it as —yaw-w-m-m!—worth it!" after a considerable pause replied Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge.

An Everyday Affair.

He was trying out his high-speed car and had his best girl beside him. Never a thought did he give to the pedestrians, for his thoughts were all on her.

There was a dangerous curve ahead, but he paid no attention to it.

The only dangerous curve he was watching was beside him on the seat. He put his arms around it.

Then came the crash.

No Further Necessity.

Maxine: "I've given up that expensive brand of perfume I've been using, dear."

Judith: "So Jack proposed at last, did he?"

—Edith Rose Margoles.

Hail, Hail, The Gang's—

A rather elderly high school teacher was talking to one of her classes about century plants. She asked whether any of the students had ever seen a century plant in bloom. None had.

"Then I've been a great deal more fortunate than all of you," she smiled.

"I've seen a century plant in bloom

Whereupon the class wit inquired: "Was it the same plant?"

We must impress on our customers that Baldpate contributions should not be larger than 150 words—preferably within 100 to 150 words.

This will insure peppiness, vitality, easiness-to-read, and away with unnecessary description.

Successful Baldpate adventures will at all times deal with experiences within the range of average understanding. To write of fictitious countries, for instance, would not give the true burlesque background so characteristic of the Traprock tales.

Maxson: "Many of the dealers are looking after that by giving short-

Pete and Ople.

Pete, the pessimist, says: "How I hate goin' to weddin's. All the women cry; so sorry for the groom, I s'pose. An' all they invite you for is so you'll send a present. Everybody says: 'What a sweet picture, they make.' But! They'll be fightin' over who own the tradin' stamp book in two months."

But

Ople, the optimist, says: "Golly-geesh, if I had my way I'd like to be a bride-groom every day. That's when everything's ahead of you and life looks like a grand picnic with all your friends bringin' somethin' cheerfu'.

"Course, there's bumps ahead—but look at the two everybody has on a roller coaster. I think brides is gettin' prettier if anything, and the bobbed-haired ones look sweet enough to eat. Yessir, I love weddin's. An' I always aim to be in at the kissin'!"

Is $921.74 Worth Saving?

That is exactly what you save in buying a place for $6,000.00 on terms, without a loan, as against buying the same place and assuming a loan of $3,000.00, paying the balance monthly, renewing the loan at maturity and paying it off monthly. Not only do you pay that much more as a total cost of the property, but you pay more per month and you take longer time to pay for it. None of these items add one cent to the value of the property, to its durability or its comfort; it represents just that much loss to you and is a total loss, for there is no compensating advantage in any way.

We offer this five-room bungalow with tile bath, bookcases, china cabinet and other built-in features, on lot 52x200, on Stewart avenue, Capitol View, for $6,000.00, on our usual terms without a loan, which makes the home cost you $921.74 LESS than if you bought it or another place at the same price and on terms, assuming a loan as above. Does that much money mean so little to you that you can afford to throw it away?

Call Mr. Settle, Walnut 2811, look at the property and ask him to explain the terms.

MRS. FLEISCHMANN NOW MRS. O'BRIEN

Paris, October 20.—Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, who divorced her husband, a former mayor of Cincinnati, in July, was married today at the city hall to the sixth son of Jay O'Brien. The ceremony was an extremely quiet one, the only witnesses being Mr. and Mrs. George Burman, Seniors. After a luncheon at one of the prominent Paris hotels Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left for London.

Mrs. Fleischmann was granted a divorce in Paris on July 29 on the ground of abandonment. According to the French divorce records, the Fleischmanns were domiciled at Neuilly, while Mrs. Fleischmann resided in Paris. The judgment handed down said Mrs. Fleischmann left the conjugal domicile and had refused to return, notwithstanding a court summons to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleischmann were married in 1920. Both had been married previously and divorced. Mrs. Fleischmann's former husband was Louis Lemingway, a wealthy silk manufacturer.

Jay O'Brien, who married Mrs. Fleischmann yesterday, is well known as a polo player and dancer. It was rumored after the divorce proceedings between the Fleischmanns had ended that Mrs. Fleischmann would marry O'Brien, in whose company she was frequently seen in Paris.

INQUEST TO DETERMINE HOW BRICKLAYER DIED

Circumstances surrounding the death of F. L. Jones, of 104 McAfee street, who died at Grady hospital yesterday from bullet wounds believed by police to have been self-inflicted Saturday, will be brought out at an inquest to be held this morning by Coroner Paul Donohoe. The inquest will be held at the undertaking establishment of Harry G. Poole.

Reports made by Grady hospital physicians disclosed that two bullets were found in Fred Jones' brain. Doubt was expressed that he could have fired a second bullet after the first had entered his brain with such deadly effect. Both bullets were said to have entered at the same spot.

Mr. Jones' relatives found him in the bathroom of his residence Saturday afternoon with a revolver in his hands. He was unconscious. Two cartridges had been discharged from the weapon.

Funeral services for Mr. Jones will be held this afternoon at the Poole chapel and interment will be in East View cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. E. Jones; two sons, Fred and C. Jones; a brother, Charles Jones, and a sister, Mrs. Mable Formly. He was a member of the bricklayers' union, No. 14; Capital City lodge, No. 642, F. & A. M.; and Delphi lodge, No. 68, Knights of Pythias.

HARRIS UNDECIDED ON ACCEPTING POST

Former Governor N. E. Harris, in conference Monday with Governor Walker, other state officials and Confederate veterans in connection with an appointment tendered him as commander in chief of the Georgia division of the United Confederate Veterans, stated that he had not yet decided what he would do.

S. Woods, representing the Coweta camp of veterans at Newnan, Judge A. H. Winter, ordinary of Morgan county, and prominent in the veterans organization, both urged Mr. Harris, who is a Confederate veteran, to accept the post.
